Britian, France Work For Delay In Asian Crisis

LONDON, April 10 (AP)—Britain and France appeared set tonight to hold out for postponement of Washington's "united front" program to block Communist seizure of Indochina.

This was the official stand on the eve of U. S. Secretary of State Dulles' flight to Europe to press for immediate action.

There was a hint in the Conservative press that the British may prove more cordial to Dulles' idea of setting up an Asiatic coalition in the Pacific than to the proposal to warn Communist China against expansion.

And there was hope a compromise could be worked out with Dulles.

The British and French governments have agreed in diplomatic exchanges to urge Dulles to delay his proposed "hands off" warning to Red China until after the Geneva conference. This parley with the Russians and the Chinese Communists opens April 26.

British official sources said London and Paris disagree with Dulles' contention that action of the "united front" right now will strengthen the West's bargaining hand at Geneva.

The British and French fear that any strongarm moves now would only serve to make the Reds clam up entirely at the parley table.

Britain and France reportedly will offer to get in line on Dulles' proposals if Moscow and Peiping spurn an Indochina settlement at Geneva. But French public opinion, the British have been told by Paris, will not tolerate any immediate move that might hamper the Geneva negotiations.

French Premier Joseph Laniel told his Parliament that Southeast Asia must not be allowed to fall into Communist hands, but nevertheless his government wants to open the Geneva negotiations "in complete liberty."

The London daily Telegraph, which often reflects the views of the Churchill government, said today:

"It is difficult to see what profit there would be in issuing a warning to the Chinese before the Geneva conference. If the Chinese mean to create further trouble in Southeast Asia, they will not be deterred by a prior intimation that their conduct will meet with Western disapproval."

Giving an indication that the British may be more willing to do business with Dulles on his proposal for a defense organization to safeguard Southeast Asia, the Telegraph added:

"An Asiatic NATO would be a more solid deterrent to the Chinese than unspecified threats."

Dulles Confers With Ike Before Boarding Plane

WASHINGTON, April 10—UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew on a peace-through-strength mission to Europe Saturday night to shore up an Allied "united front" to save Southeast Asia from Communist aggression.

The secretary took off for London and Paris in a Military Air Transport Service constellation on his personal mission.

He hoped to achieve Anglo-American - French singleness of purpose to warn the Reds that the door to aggression will be slammed shut in Indo-China, the gateway to the riches and prizes of Southeast Asia.

"That is the purpose of my trip," he said. "It is, I emphasize, a mission of peace through strength."

Dulles conferred with President Eisenhower before leaving, got his endorsement, and issued a farewell statement in which he said:

"This government believes that if all the free people who are threatened unite against the threat then the threat can be ended."

Dulles took off at 4:52 p.m. CST. Just before his departure he told reporters he planned to return to Washington on Thursday and then would go to his Duck Island retreat in Lake Ontario to spend Friday and Saturday, returning to Washington Sunday.

French Defenders Punish Rebels In Counter-Assault

HANOI, Indochina, April 10 (AP)—Embattled French defenders lashed out from Dien Bien Phu today to smash at Vietminh forces creeping up on the fortress in preparation for another mass assault.

Moving out behind tanks, French infantrymen routed Vietminh digging in less than two-thirds of a mile from the heart of the fortress and drove them back at bayonet point.

This is the closest the rebels have come since the siege began March 13.

A union command spokesman said savage hand-to-hand fighting brought considerable losses to both sides.

The French opened with a heavy artillery barrage on the rebels' eastern hill positions. Then union infantry moved in and seized a rebel-held hill. From there they swooped down on a winding line of Vietminh trenches.

Earlier, French engineers repaired their vital airstrip which had been damaged in a pre-dawn rebel attack. The French said the rebels had blown up the northern section of the strip by placing bamboo poles stuffed with nitroglycerine under the field's steel matting.

Drenching rains turned the dusty plain into a mud bowl as the French continued to shore their defenses in anticipation of another mass rebel assault.

The downpour-prelude to the monsoon season expected later this month-curdled the thick red dust and slowed French tanks, guns and other war vehicles moving up to defense positions.

However, U.S.-supplied French warplanes continued to hammer rebel troop concentrations and supply routes.

French and rebel artillery fought sporadic duels in an attempt to knock out each others' firing positions.

Thunderstorms, Showers Likely

Mostly cloudy with scattered showers and thunderstorms is forecast for the Twin Cities area Sunday and Monday, according to the federal weather man. Little change in temperature is anticipated.

The maximum temperature recorded at the CAA's Selman Field station Saturday was 77 degrees. The low was 65.

The outlook for Arkansas is for mostly cloudy, scattered thundershowers east, south, Sunday and south Monday; not so warm northwest Sunday.

Tornado Destroys Home Near Warren

WARREN, Ark., April 10—UP—A freak tornado dipped down at the Gravel Ridge community late Saturday and destroyed one house and a barn. No one was injured.

District Forester M. A. Buercklin said there also was some timber loss in the area.

Buercklin said a house belonging to Carter Wood and a barn owned by Arlie Lewis were destroyed.

Narcotics King Is Wounded; Brother Slain

Gangland-Type Shooting Leaves Survivor Mum

CHICAGO, April 10 (AP)—Anthony Pape, 40, who federal agents say is the head of a million dollar dope ring, lay near death Saturday but refused to say who shot him and killed his brother.

Pape was found slumped in the front seat of an automobile Friday night with four bullet holes in his head, one in the neck and three in an arm.

His brother, James, 36, was dead, his body dangling out of the car. He was shot twice in the head and once in the neck.

Anthony Pape was arrested March 16 and charged by federal agents with being the chief of a multimillion-dollar-a-year wholesale narcotics ring.

Police had numerous theories as to the how and why of the shooting.

"We can't say it is a war between two dope factions, but you can use your imagination," said Capt. John T. O'Malley, chief of detectives.

O'Malley added that whoever did the shooting apparently was sitting in the back seat of the automobile. The automobile had crashed into a Southwest Side apartment building. It was not badly damaged. There were no witnesses. Neighbors told police they heard no shots.

Powder burns were found on Anthony's overcoat and on the back of James' neck.

A long list of men, including six arrested with Pape last month, were picked up by police for questioning or were being sought.

James' hysterical widow told police her husband was a special delivery postal employe. "Jimmy never harmed anybody. Why should they hurt Jimmy?" she sobbed.

U. S. Atty. James Piragine said he doubted that the assailants were after James. "We had no information that he was involved in any illegal activities," he said.

Negro Drowns In River; Search For Body Begins

Late last night firemen were preparing to start dragging operations to recover the body of a West Monroe Negro who drowned in the Ouachita River opposite the intersection of Sycamore and McKinley streets, Monroe, about 7:45 p.m. yesterday.

Roy D. Farmer, 34, of 2307 Trenton Street, West Monroe told the Morning World that he and Ceasar Hunnicutt, Negro, about 35 of West Monroe, were traveling up the river toward Paragoud Lake

Hunicutt's body was recovered at 10:05 p. m., on the third sweep. He was reported wearing rubber boots and coveralls. Capt. M. L. Smith, of the fire department, who was directing dragging operations said, Hunnicutt probably would not have drowned if he had not been wearing the heavy boots.

when he noticed the motor was "pulling hard." Farmer turned to make an adjustment on the motor and discovered the boat was filling up with water. He turned the boat toward the bank, but it filled up and sank about 40 feet from shore.

Farmer said he shouted to Hunnicutt, who was said to be crippled in one leg, to hang onto the boat, but the Negro apparently did not hear him. Farmer swam to a log projecting from the bank, and pulled himself to shore. He turned to find that Hunnicutt had disappeared beneath the surface.

Farmer ran across the levee and

November L. E. A. Convention Will Be Held In Monroe

The Louisiana Education Association will hold a state convention in Monroe in November, according to W. W. Ward, superintendent of the Ouachita Parish school system.

Ward is a member of the executive committee which met here yesterday and selected Monroe for the convention site. Ward said Alexandria was considered, but Monroe won the final choice.

In other action at the meeting, in Ward's office, the executive group named Mrs. Helen Ortis, of Millsaps School in West Monroe, as a delegate to the national convention in New York City in July.

In addition to about 1500 delegates to the state convention here, Ward said several thousand teachers from all over the state would participate in the conference. He estimated that "between 6,000 and 7,000 persons" will register for the convention.

Mundt Replies To Brownell's Talk On Reds

Defends Record Of Congress In Exposing Spies

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP) — Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today that Atty. Gen. Brownell was "a little less than generous" in failing to credit congressional committees with ferreting out Communists.

Mundt, who heads a Senate Investigations subcommittee looking into the row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Army officials, also took issue with Brownell's statement in his nationwide TV-radio broadcast that the nation should not have "exaggerated fears" of Communist infiltration.

Brownell, who did not mention McCarthy's controversial hunt for Communists in government, told the nation last night that "the FBI, the Department of Justice and the courts are your agents in dealing with this Communist conspiracy." His remark was interpreted widely as an attempt to direct attention away from McCarthy.

"I thought the attorney general was a little less than generous through his failure to recognize the documented record of what has been done by congressional investigating committees in this field," Mundt said.

"I am sure, however, it was not a deliberate oversight," he added. Mundt, who also served on the House Un-American Activities Committee during its probe of the Alger Hiss case, said he doesn't believe fears of Communist infiltration have been exaggerated.

Brownell said the threat of communism is real and that the nation must be "constantly alert to the danger of Communist infiltration," but he also said "we should not have exaggerated fears of the danger."

Mundt asserted:

"I think the danger from an exaggerated complacency is probably greater than from exaggerated fears in the particular kind of world we have today, when the hydrogen bomb is known to be in the possession of the Godless and entirely unscrupulous Communist masters of Moscow."

Mundt's remarks came as Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, said that he agrees with Brownell that additional anti-Communist legislation is needed to carry out the work of law enforcement agencies and will ask for early consideration of several measures.

Other than to say he expects congressional investigations to continue, Knowland declined to comment on reports that the administration's program is aimed at overshadowing the activities of McCarthy.

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) issued a statement praising Roman Catholic Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, who accused McCarthy yesterday of operating "a kind of shell game" on Americans.

Calling Shiel one of "the great humanitarians of American," Lehman said the bishop "has again reflected the deep moral and spiritual purposes which have animated his entire life."

U. S. Citizens Are Members, Senators Say

Ike Requested To Take Initiative In Cleanup Job

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP) — Senate investigators said tonight a Communist "fifth column," with some American citizens in its ranks, is operating within the United Nations secretariat.

"There are strong indications," they reported, "that this 'fifth column' also includes citizens of other non-Communist countries."

A unanimous report of the nine-member Senate Internal Security subcommtitee urged President Eisenhower to instruct the American delegation at the international agency "to press for thorough review of the entire U.N. personnel from non-Communist countries."

Coupled with this would be instructions that the Americans "cooperate with delegations from such countries for the purpose of eliminating all personnel" from their countries who are members of the Communist Internationale or subject to its discipline.

The senators also recommended that "evidence of Soviet use of international agencies . . . as a cover for espionage on American soil" be sent to Secretary of State Dulles as a basis for a possible protest to the Soviets.

"The work of this 'fifth column' necessarily is inimical not only to the interests of the United States, but also to the interests of other non-Communist freedom-loving nations, and to the avowed interests and purposes of the United Nations itself," the report said, adding:

"The existence of a 'fifth column' in the secretariat of the United Nations brings into serious question the work of the United Nations agencies and also that of other international organizations."

The report reviewed an investigation undertaken in 1952 in a search for Communists among American staff members of the U.N. secretariat, giving highlights of the testimony as well as the subcommittee's conclusions and recommendations.

It said that between Oct. 13, 1952, and April 27, 1953, 27 U.N. staff members, almost all of them former employes of the U. S. government, refused to answer questions about Communist connections on

Battle For Control Of Congress Opens Tuesday With Illinois Primary

CHICAGO, April 10 (AP)—The great battle for control of Congress officially opens Tuseday in an Illinois primary revolving around rousing scraps over a Senate seat and chairmen of three major House committees.

Mainly the scraps are rousing the politicians and party pros in this first primary of the 1954 campaign.

This is a year when the gain or loss of a single seat in Congress will mean much to either Democrats or Republicans—both Senate and House are almost evenly divided between the parties. Yet many Illinois voters are yawning behind their hands over the business of weeding out in the primaries the candidates who will collide in the general election in November.

Nine Republicans are fighting it out for the party's nomination for U. S. senator and a chance to try to unhorse Sen. Paul H. Douglas, a Democrat. The preponderant opinion now is that Joseph T. Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail Assns., has the inside track.

The GOP is particularly eager to shove Douglas out of his seat. He has been clanging alarm gongs about a recession. The senator himself has an opposition in the Democratic primary.

Lumped together in the northwestern corner of the state are three similar congressional districts of mixed farming and industrial resources. Each is represented in the House by the chairman of an important committee.

All these chairmen — Leo E. Allen of the Rules Committee, Robert B. Chiperfield of the Foreign Affairs and Harold H. Velde of Un-American Activities, have unexpectedly sturdy opposition in the primary. All three are favored to repeat in the primary and then in November.

In their districts and elsewhere in the state, an ear to the ground tunes in some rumbles of discontent about farm prices and the employment outlook. Various cities have felt the pinch of factory layoffs.

People in the southern tip of the state, where many communities have been hit by a sagging coal mining economy, appear far more interested in jobs than in farm policy, foreign policy or Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and communism.

But employment and farm problems are issues more for the November election that for the primary.

Ruston Legion Post Endorses Sen. M'Carthy

RUSTON, April 10. (Special)—The Edwin - Parnell Post, No. 3615, V. F. W., passed a resolution and sent a telegram to Sen. Joseph McCarthy in Washington today stating that they "recognized his fight to be a fight for America."

The telegram in full read as follows:

"We steadfastly refuse to adhere to any left wing philosophy, whether it be voiced by the church, school, television, radio or the press. We recognize your fight to be a fight for America."

The post is composed of 125 members throughout Lincoln Parish and represents five different towns in the parish. The towns are Ruston, Choudrant, Simsboro, Dubach and Hico.

The resolution to send the telegram was introduced at the last meeting of the post by George B. Holstead, judge advocate of the post, and well known Ruston attorney.

Henry G. Riser is commander of the post and the resolution was passed immediately following installation of new officers. Other officers of the post are as follows: L. W. Harlan, Jr., vice - commander; Howard C. Davis, second vice - commander; Ralph J. Smelley, post adjutant; J. T. Rienhart, quartermaster; Fred N. Gray, chaplain.

Seek To 'Draft' Ex-Gov. Jones In Senate Race

ABBEVILLE, La., April 10 (AP)—A move to draft former Gov. Sam Jones as a candidate for the U. S. Senate was launched today by a south Louisiana group.

Harley McCall, Abbeville insurance broker, made the announcement.

McCall said Jones was more responsible than any other person for the great industrial expansion in south Louisiana.

Jones, a Lake Charles attorney, is a member of President Eisenhower's inter-government relations committee.

McCall said they planned to confer with Jones soon.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender and Frank Ellis of New Orleans, national Democratic committeemen, are other candidates in the July primary.

Mossadegh Boycotts Court; Starts Hunger Strike

TEHRAN, Iran, April 10 (AP)—Former Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh boycotted the afternoon session of the Army Appeals Court today despite an offer by the chief prosecutor to kiss his toe.

The offer was made by Army Prosecutor Brig. Hossein Azemodeh during an hour-long plea that the ex-dictator abandon a hunger strike he began during the morning session and consent to face his judges once more. Mossadegh is appealing a three year solitary confinement sentence for treason and disobeying the Shah.

Mossadegh remained cozy in a little bed under a plugged-in electric blanket in his barracks room. The trial teetered on the edge of farce as the judges called the session, heard both Court Chairman Reza Javadi and Azemodeh explain the position, then recessed until tomorrow morning.

Mossadegh went on reading newspapers to see if they carry the full text of his testimony, a point on which he insists.

The appeals hearings for the 72-year-old political leader began Thursday.

This morning Mossadegh wagged a bony finger at the court chairman and shouted "since there are no spectators, I will not defend myself. I will not eat any food from today on." The court counted 36 persons in the room, 18 of them local and foreign newsmen.

Azemodeh threatened artificial feeding to break the ex-premier's strike.

Then he and Mossadegh squabbled over whether Mossadegh was being held in a cell or a "nice, properly furnished room", as described by Azemodeh.

The court recessed to allow reporters to inspect Mossadegh's quarters.

Mossadegh sprawled out on the bed in the green and white barracks room where he has been held and announced:

"Will I eat? Impossible. Not until I see full coverage of the court procedure in the newspapers and people in the courtroom."

Then he wailed, "I want freedom." Beginning to cry, he declaimed, "let me die for my country."

But he remained in bed.

Azemodeh told the afternoon session of the court that he and four colonels went to Mossadegh's room to ask him to appear this afternoon.

"I told him 'I and the four colonels present here will kiss your hand, your toe, and we appeal, request and beg you to appear'."

The prosecutor told the court he had offered to send doctors to examine Mossadegh who replied, "my health is better than yours.

Variety Feature Replacement For Endurance Show

Former contestants in the West Monroe Walk-A-Thon, which was closed last week on orders of District Attorney Fred Fudickar, Jr., are showing that, although they are amateur performers, they are endowed with the old trouper spirit that the "show must go on."

The contestants are now staging a nightly variety show, composed of skits, dances, songs, and comedy in the place of the Walk-A-Thon. The present show is in no way a contest or endurance test of any kind. In short, it is the same type of show perviously staged by the contestants—but without any test, contest, or awards involved.

Under the present set up there is no violation of any law, Ouachita Parish Sheriff Bailey Grant said yesterday that members of his department had viewed the show Friday night and found it within the limits of the law. "However," Sheriff Grant warned, "if the persons involved should step out of bounds and violate the law again, the show will be closed up as was the Walk-A-Thon."

John H. Birdsong, president of the Ouchita Valley Fair Association, which is sponsoring the variety show, said the show as it is operating is legal, and that there is positively no competition involved. The portion of the proceeds the fair association receives from the show will be used to rebuild the exhibit building which burned last fall.

Contestants and officials at the Walk-A-Thon were arrested early last week by members of the sheriff's department on orders of the district attorney, who cited a state statute which prohibits the conducting of any endurance contest for a period of longer than 24 hours. He also cited a state law which makes it unlawful for anyone to engage in such a contest.

Thirteen contestants, the floor judge and producer of the Walk-A-Thon were arrested. However, charges against the judge and contestants were later dropped. In District Court Friday the producer of the show, Bill Caliborne, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of violating the state statute, which prohibits such contests. His case was remanded for sentence.

be glad that he is to spend his vacation here. He has made excellent grades at Duke University where he is a first year medical student. He received his bachelor's degree last year at Centenary.

A group of friends joined members of the family to greet him at Selman airport when he arrived Friday night.

Mrs. Ida Kaplan, a highly successful former business woman here, but now retired, was given unusual recognition when the congregation B'Nai Israel elected her president the past week. Never before has such an honor come to a woman.

It was accorded her for her untiring efforts for the Temple and for all that concerns its advancement. She is recognized as an unusually broadminded and devoted member of her church. Greater progress than ever is anticipated under her wise administration.

A young man, evidently about 30, presented an overparking ticket to Judge W. M. Harper, of City of Monroe court, and stated he felt he should be granted immunity against the meters for personal reasons.

The judge explained that to do so would be unfair and a partial administration of the law. He was told that the way to accomplish his desires was to apply to the men he had elected on the city council, asking that they abolish meters for parking.

The man replied that he had never voted in his life, which caused the judge to remind him that it was high time he exercised his right of franchise.

This case, the judge later pointed out was an example of how many take their responsibilities so lightly and complain loud and long about conditions, never once troubling to cast ballots at the polls.

Major Jack Davis, of the traffic squad, and Howard Griffith, radio engineer, were out on Sterlington road, the other day, demonstrating radar speed interception to Judge W. M. Harper, presiding City of Monroe court official.

A colored boy passed in a truck at rapid clip and the judge simply pointed a finger at him as warning as he passed. The driver went a block, stopped and waited. Then he later walked to the radar car where the judge explained its workings in detail. And the judge added that the radar machine also photographed his license number as he passed. He was indeed impressed.

When the word gets around that radar also photographs passing license plates, material reduction in speed may be expected.

hailed George Lewis, 310 McKinley street, who was driving up to his home, Lewis in turn called police, who notified the fire department rescue squad.

Firemen arrived a few minutes later, but were hampered in their efforts to drag for the body by the lack of a boat. The firemen explained that boats used previously had rusted out, and that even the paddles had become rotted and broken. They explained that the American Legion had built a new boat for use in such rescue work, but that it was too heavy and bulky for use.

City detectives obtained a power boat at a local dock and traversed the street up to the point of the drowning in a search for the boat and Hunnicutt's body. The boat and mottor were found floating up-side down about 500 feet below the scene of the targedy. However, it was unfit for use in dragging operations.

Due to numerous snags, other underwater obstructions, and the nature of the power boat, it could not be used either.

Shortly before 10 p.m. rescue workers were still on the scene, the river was illuminated by floodlights, and a line and other dragging equipment were ready. But there was no boat.

All told, 40 U.N. employes have quit or been fired in connection with the loyalty probe, which is not yet complete. Of these, 21 appealed to the U.N.'s administrative tribunal and 11 were ordered reinstated, on the ground that they were improperly discharged under existing staff rules.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold refused to reinstate the 11, and the administrative tribunal directed the U.N. to pay them compensation totaling $189,370.

The United States, which would have to pay one-third of this, balked, and the matter was referred by the General Assembly to the World Court at The Hague for settlement.

The Senate subcommittee's report said the action of the U.N. tribunal "has done injury to the cause of the United Nations within the United States." It said the tribunal's decisions demonstrated "a totally erroneous conception of the world Communist conspiracy."

I won't come to court unless you force me to."

The tactics of Mossadegh, figuratively thumbing his massive nose at Iran's highest army court, present a delicate problem for the judges. The prisoner has already been directly helped by the Shah at least four times during his political career of more than half a century.

There are also clear indications in royal circles that the Shah is awaiting the formality of an appeal before extending further clemency to Mossadegh.

These factors make it unlikely Javadi will order Mossadegh to be dragged back into the appeals hearing.

Commercial Fishers Begin Working Bayou DeSiard On April 19

Bayou DeSiard will be open to commercial fishermen from 6 a.m. April 19 through May 13, the Ouachita Parish Fish and Game Commission announced yesterday through a committee composed of Joe Combs, O.N. McNeil and Jack Rushing.

Permits which are required for commercial fishing in the local bayou, may be obtained at the College Friend Restaurant, 4101 DeSiard road.

In making the announcement the commission asked that the public and sportsmen respect the tackle and equipment of commercial fishermen working the bayou. "The opening of the bayou to commercial fishermen," a spokesman for the commission said, "is designed to rid the bayou of turtles and gar, which have been very detrimental to game fish and annoying to sportsmen fishing the local waters."

Transportation Club To Meet Thursday

The week of April 12 through 17 has been proclaimed as "Perfect Shipping Week" in Monroe and will be observed by the Traffic and Transportation Club of Monroe-West Monroe with a special program at the Virgnia hotel. The meeting, slated for Thursday night, will bring together a large group of interested shippers and receivers of freight and carrier representatives from Louisiana and surrounding states and cities.

The prncipal address will be by Carl A. Naffziger, director of freight loss and damage prevention section, Association of American Railroads, of Chicago. Naffziger's talk will be "Prevention Pays."

Radar Signs Cut Traffic Mishaps

The Monroe traffic department, which recently placed signs on all streets leading into the city warning motorists that their speed will be checked by radar, Saturday released a comparison of traffic accident figures during the week since they have been up and the week before they went up.

From March 25 through April 1, which was the day before the signs were rected, there were 28 accidents, according to the figures. After the signs went up there were only 13 accidents in a comparable length of time.

"And," Major Jack Davis, traffic department director, said, "the radar is still being tested and has not yet been used to control traffic.

Author Addresses Educators At Northeast State

SPEAKS HERE—Miss Marion B. Cook, nationally known author and lecturer on children's literature, is shown here as she speaks to an assembled group of educators, librarians and others on regional literature for children at an educational conference at Northeast State, Saturday morning.

Miss Marion B. Cook, nationally known author and lecturer in the field of children's literature, Saturday morning spoke to an assembled group of educators, children's supervisors, librarians, and P.-T. A. members at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Major subject of Miss Cook's talk was "Introducing the U. S. A. to Children Through Books," a major concern of hers in talks throughout the country.

In her talk Saturday, Miss Cook pointed out that children's books on regional subjects can be an invaluable aid to educators, creating an interest in areas unknown to the children which may not be found in ordinary textbooks.

"Through regional literature," Miss Cook said, "children can learn about their contemporaries in this and other lands."

She pointed out that fictional literature for children, while dealing with imaginary persons, presents a true geographic setting and gives children an idea how natural resources, environment and nationalities affect the way of life in each section of the country.

Throughout her talk, Miss Cook illustrated her points from various books for children and gave the assembled group a brief sketch of the contents of many of them.

A list of the books she mentioned in her talk was given to Dean William Smith at the college to prepare for distribution among listeners who wished to use the books in their work.

Miss Cook has written articles about children's regional literature for journals in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, India, Pakistan and China.

She also is the compiler of a series of three books of sectional short stories, "Children of the U. S. A."

These titles are used throughout the United States in elementary schools and libraries. Her latest publication is a story picture book, "Waggles and the Dog Catcher."

Miss Cook made her talk at one of a series of educational conferences which have been being held at the college. Before her talk, the West Monroe High School choir entertained with several selections.

Selman Class Pays Visit To Federal Court

The sixth grade class from room 14, Selman Elementary School had the privilege of visiting federal court at the post office building on Monday. This trip was a culminating activity of a unit's work and was under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Morris, student teacher from N. S. L. C. This unit's work was on the U. S. S. R. and this American court scene gave the children an opportunity to contrast the two systems.

These children had the privilege of witnessing the selection of jurors and the cross examination of witnesses. The highlight of the day was the meeting with Judge Ben C. Dawkins, Jr., who had so graciously arranged this visit for them.

Houston Hill, student teacher from N. S. L. C., Mrs. Crystal Anthony, sixth grade teacher, Mrs. Katie Mae Zoll, principal Selman Elementary School, accompanied Mrs. Morris and the students on this trip.

The students evaluated their experience very highly. They were able to see the functioning of a free and democratic system of government as represented in our federal court. Jesse Johnson acting as a guide for the students added much to their understanding and enjoyment of the occasion.

Northeast Students To Study Marine Life On Grand Isle

The biological science section of Northeast State is offering a trip to Grand Isle on April 13-17 to study marine life.

Students participating in the project will be occupied in collecting, identifying and classifying the specimens which they find in an intensive three-day program.

Approximately 16 persons plan to make the excursion and they are enthusiastic about the process of study. Edward Whatley, assistant professor of biological science, will accompany the group and direct their work at Grand Isle.

Credit will be received for the work. Although the trip is designed primarily for science students, others are invited to participate in the program. Those who wish to make the trip should see Whatley immediately.

Members of the group will use the Louisiana State University housing quarters and the marine laboratory located there. Students will prepare their own meals and care for housing facilities.

Excursions to Grand Isle have previously been made by science students under Whatley's supervision.

Students who have already registered for the trip include: Kenneth Simmons, J. W. Burn, James W. Atkins, Jamey Poulan, Gentry Jones, Jimmy Fisher, Alton Braddock, Ralph Sterrett, Bill Wilson, Billy Coughian, Sharan Jinks, Hilda West, John Fuglaar, Bob Bell.

Presbyterians In Jonesville To Build

JONESVILLE (Special) — Members of Jonesville's Trinity Presbyterian Church have let a contract for construction of the sanctuary part of a new church building.

Included in a $17,700 contract with the Central Building Supply Company of Jonesville is the sanctuary and two class rooms. The building will be of brick veneer with a plaster interior and a copper steeple, Rev. Carl Lazenby, pastor said.

The entire proposed plan for the new church calls for seven class rooms, a pastor's study, kitchen, two rest rooms, and an assembly room.

WASHINGTON, April 9 —UP— President Eisenhower received a set of 100 "great books" Friday from St. John's College, Annapolis, Md.

The California Election—

James Roosevelt, son of the late president, has announced that no matter the opposition, he will run for a congressional seat from his state, California. He, in a most brazen and untrue statement, asserted that the election would be "his vindication."

The statement came after a disclaimer from the national head of the Democrat party, Stephen Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell stated specifically that the National Committee disowned Roosevelt and wanted no part of him. In the same statement, the party leader disowned Rep. Condon, also from California. Condon had been denied permission to visit the Los Alamos Atom center on the grounds that he was a security risk. Mitchell stated that the backgrounds of both men pointed to the lack of their need in the congress. Roosevelt then bitterly attacked Mitchell accusing him of "McCarthyite tactics" and inferring that he (Mitchell) was a representative of Fascist principles.

James Roosevelt therefore is using his "record" as a method of getting himself elected to a seat in congress. Just what is his record? He apparently was involved with some 12 or more women in or around his home while still married. Then, he wrote his wife a letter describing in detail, his actions in connection with the women. The letter was released during his divorce suit, putting the finishing touches on the marital careers (and in Hollywood, they are careers) of the women involved.

Roosevelt has proved that his personal life does not make him fit for congress. Unfortunately, he is running for office in California. Out there, nearly "anything goes" and it is highly probable that Roosevelt will win the election merely because of his "record." He is adopting the attitude of a beleagured martyr which is always good for a few votes anywhere. In California, especially in his district, it may be good enough to get him elected. In any case, the directive of Mr. Mitchell is a commendable one or would be if the party record in the past had always followed the edicts of Mr. Mitchell as regards the present case. Unfortunately, Mitchell knows that Roosevelt is a liability to the party. He knows that the party cannot support on a nationwide basis, a person of Roosevelt's caliber. Thus, the statement.

The American people have heard this curious person declare Mitchell a "McCarthyite" for his statement. That should be the best vote of confidence ever received by the Wisconsin Senator in that if McCarthy opposes the election of Roosevelt (which he does) on the grounds of his marital record more Americans ought to be "McCarthyites." The truth is however, there are too many Americans who do not and will not oppose Roosevelt because of this past history. Twenty years ago, he would most probably have been ostracized. Today, he is a hero, a martyr.

The family life and decency of a person is no longer a claim to fame. Rather, in many quarters, it is a hindrance. In Hollywood, the film capitol where people live in phantasy and in a false existence, those who do not conform to the usual antics are not "modern," they do not keep up with the "times." Unless a husband or a wife can carry on some extra marital activities it could appear that they are not "successful." The record of that community is known throughout the nation and there is no use in further describing it. However, it is necessary to regard its influence on the rest of the nation, a most considerable one.

One has to realize that there is most certainly a determined effort to ruin the morals of this Republic. The United States was built as a nation of families. The core of its moral fiber was centered around its family life. Today, that family life is a "victim of the times." Young American school children are actually taught to disregard the teachings of their parents. They are taught by printed pamphlets issued by "UNESCO" and others that their parents are incapable of keeping up with "modern trends" and are "prophets of false nationalism." The "progressive education" philosophers also regard the parents as fit for the furnaces of the never-world.

Marriage today is merely a supposition; a contract by the state. Forgotten is the oath taken before God concerning the marriage vows. Forgotten are the Commandments of God, one of which has been broken deliberately, rent asunder, by this man who now asks his followers to elect him to a seat in the Congress. More of them are broken every day by youngsters who are deliberately instructed to forget the commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother."

If a man running for a seat in the congress deliberately breaks the laws of God, can it be said that he will uphold the laws of the land?

What kind of laws will he attempt to write?

If the youngsters are taught to break the commandments of God, what does the future hold for the United States?

There is no necessity to "moralize" as one critic so recently stated, there is only a necessity to face the truth of the present situation. Either this nation returns to the mores and folkways which made it great, or it will follow the same path of other nations and empires which were destroyed because of their inner debasement. The list of those nations are long. Present day France is one of the best examples.

Does one "moralize" when he attempts to throw light on a bad but existing situation? If so, there is a great lack of "moralizers." There is no question in the minds of thinking Americans, those who still care to think, that the nation is past the crossroads. One direction led to greatness and the illumination of glory while the other leads to moral disintegration and destruction through mobocracy as has happened to other nations. This nation in the past several decades, has followed the latter path. It is still not too late to back up, retrench and return to the crossroads.

The election in California will in part, point to the direction in which the nation will go. The American people will do well to watch that election with great curiosity. If the Roosevelt scion is elected, his record, sordid and shameful though it is, will indeed have been vindicated.

It will be a sign of the times.

Morehouse— A Parish Of Industry

The everyday boast of Morehouse citizens, "We've got everything in Morehouse" can well be true as the facts point to the richness of the Northeast Louisiana parish in industry, farming, cattle and natural resources.

Taking an advanced step forward from its sisters in the fifth congressional district, Morehouse places industry above agriculture, as the smokestacks of the large paper mills show the distinct line of modern industry in her present and future growth.

Bastrop, being the parish seat, is the hub of activity for Morehouse and through its progressive business houses millions of dollars each year change hands and make an economic situation for the parish which equals any found in major Louisiana cities. Being also the center of industry in the parish, Bastrop climaxes the top ring by being able to claim within her limits, industry, business and a seat of government.

Not to be outdone by the parish seat, the smaller communities throughout Morehouse contribute to the healthy growth of their parish. Mer Rouge, Bonita, Jones, Oak Ridge, Collinston and others are primarily the farming centers and form an economic backbone for Morehouse. Industry achieves its paramount role in the parish with an estimated payroll in 1953 of over ten million dollars and the employment of approximately 2400 persons.

Figures indicate that the paper mills probably hire more people than any other industrial concern. The reforestration and forest protection plans put forward by the Morehouse paper concerns are among the best in the nation and point to the owner's interest in the future and forward progress of their area. With the combination of industry and agriculture in Morehouse, the future holds no uncertainty for progress and growth.

Containing 514,560 acres of rich fertile farm land, governed by farsighted individuals, and possessing an overabundance of progressive minded citizens, Morehouse parish is a major center of Louisiana and probably will not lose that title for many years, but will increase in prestige not only within the bounds of the state, the South, but the entire nation.

'The Smear Terror'

"Human Events" reported last week concerning writer John T. Flynn's book "The Smear Terror." Those who have not as yet read this book ought not to miss it. Those who cry and bleat concerning "fair play" and "no witchhunts" should also consider the book.

Flynn writes, "Would you believe that there are in this country, several outfits that specialize in the destruction of reputations? I can name an organization with large offices equipped to destroy the reputation of anyone whose influence in the community gets in the way of its clients. Having chosen its victim, it lays out a carefully prepared plan of action. The enterprise is labeled professionally, a "project." This is organized like a program for selling a commercial product. The type of smear is decided upon. An estimate is made of the expenditures for personnel, travel, snooping, publicity, etc. A budget is prepared. The persons interested are informed of the cost. When the money is in hand, the job is put in motion by a set of trained character assassins who make a living out of this sort of thing and do well at it."

Mr. Flynn documents several instances and lists further charges in the pamphlet. This newspaper knows of at least two such organizations and can thus verify Flynn's material. It wonders, as does "Human Events" whether or not this has not been unleashed on Senator McCarthy and others of his caliber and if so, who is paying the bills?

Deliberate And Planned Confusion

The American people have beheld in past weeks, a spectacle of political maneuvering and wretched press handling of a situation which defies actual description. The affair concerning the Army-McCarthy has been cast all out of proportion as a result of deliberate planning. Because the Wisconsin Senator came upon something "hot" in the Army, that branch of the service has by many means, attempted to take the "heat off" by confusing the issue and the American people.

The valuable McCarthy committee has been halted in its work of investigation by as clever a plan as was ever witnessed in the United States. The Army claims that McCarthy and Cohn attempted to protect David Schine, a former committee counsel and investigator and McCarthy has records which indicate that the Army is not only prevaricating, but that it has attempted to blackmail the committee. Moreover, the investigation will probably prove how much political influence has been used in the past by the congress and the administrations to "protect" and commission certain friends.

McCarthy, according to the latest information, has run across something inside the Army which must, at all costs, be "hushed up." Thus, the confusion of the present days. The Congress has been unable to carry out its legislative business and this will be used as a club against the Republican party.

Those leftwing press people who are now "defending" the President, will probably reopen the attack on him as soon as this thing is over and as soon as he does something which displeases them.

The Sears situation pointed to the deliberate and planned attack on McCarthy. Mr. Sears was entirely capable of carrying out the investigation with an open mind although he had stated some two years ago that the McCarthy committee was doing a valuable job. As the Americans for Democratic Action (the American Socialists) did not like the statement and regarded it as "pro-McCarthy," deliberate and planned prevarication was used against Sears.

It was spearheaded by Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., whose record this newspaper has already described. He was the one, you will remember, who ridiculed religion and said that the present American system makes the United States "look wistfully towards Russia." He advocated freedom for Communists to teach in American schools. He was Adlai Stevenson's main speech writer. A clever manipulator with the typewriter, it was Schlesinger who smeared Sears.

The propaganda machine has swung into a speed and a determined effort never believed possible by any American. No one actually believed the slander mongers could reach the degree of vituperation attained in the fight against Joe McCarthy. The very fact that he has attempted to ask even the right to cross examine witnesses in his own defense was attacked by this clique of people. Is one of the basic privileges accorded American citizens to be denied McCarthy? It appears that way.

The present confusion was planned beyond a shadow of a doubt to halt the proceedings, to discredit the Senator and all committees of congress in an investigative capacity and to establish this congress as a "do nothing congress." The left wing press and "commentators" have done an excellent job of accomplishing their present aim. It is doubtful however, whether or not they have convinced the American people that they practice what they preach. They shout against that which they demand.

The investigation of the Army should continue.

Valuable time is being lost by this planned confusion.

Rep. Napper Explains Position On Colleges

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Recently the Monroe Morning World Newspaper reported that I "forced a resolution through the Joint Fiscal Committee of the Legislature requesting a State Board of Education statement on the matter of whether Northeast State College and-or McNeese State College should remain on a four year basis," together with the statements that I have consistently fought against the elevation of the Monroe college," that I "fought the creation of the Monroe College in the 1950 legislature," and that I "have continued agitation for its return to a two year status."

At no time have I fought the creation and-or elevation of these two schools to four year status as this was perfected in 1950 prior to my election to the House of Representatives in 1952. Nor have I continued agitation for their return to two-year status and, more specifically, I did not propose legislation during the 1952 session of the Legislature for such return. The above mentioned resolution was not FORCED through the Joint Fiscal Committee as you reported—it was adopted without opposition by a committee composed of thirty-five (35) members of the Legislature.

As a member of the Education Study Committee I found it obvious that a doubt existed in the minds of a vast number of Louisiana taxpayers relative to the need of these two colleges on a four year basis. With such knowledge I found it impossible, as a member of the House Appropriations Committee, to conscientiously consider increased appropriations for these schools without some guide as to their justification. The State Board of Education is the educational policy making body in the state of Louisaina and I would have considered it a dereliction of my duties if I had not asked its recommendations.

My resolution was preceded by a statement to the effect that if the State Board of Education recommended the continuation of these two colleges on a four year basis, I would, as a member of the Appropriations Committee, to my utmost to help provide them with facilities to produce a quality education.

It is possible that you have me confused with a member of the 1950 legislature. I trust you will make a valid attempt to clarify this matter with the subscribers of your newspaper.

L. D. NAPPER, Member,
House of Representatives.

Wants Northeast To Stay Four-Year College

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In regard to the articles about our Northeast Louisiana State College, I would like to add my say to them.

You can fully see why this Lincoln parish representative is trying his best to cut the college back to a two-year college.

It is also quite clear that he would be fighting against it for the benefit of the college there in Ruston.

It is a shame for him to fight it so hard when these towns are neighboring cities. He knows if it is a two-year college, Ruston, Louisiana Tech would have more boys and girls attending Tech.

We pay taxes just like he does and we would like to see our college stay as it is a four-year college. We plan on our children going out there and when they fight it and break it back to a two-year college it will make it harder on the Monroe boys and girls. We hope it will stay as it is.

America Needs To Take A Strong Position In Asia

New York

Editor, Morning World:

Last night one of my grandsons told me that his arithmetic was not very good, because the teacher was no good. This reminded me of your editorial of March 27th, entitled: "Yalta Over Geneva."

You seem to blame the British and the French for the pressure on us to recognize Red China, at the coming conference at Geneva. This is very unfair to the French and British. They are the metropolitan centers of disintegrating empires. They have insufficient forces in the Pacific, and yet they have hostages there. The French in Indo-China. The British in Hong Kong and Malaya. To expect them to take any position other than attempting to placate the Red Chinese horde, is unfair.

We, however, are not disintegrating. We have no empire in the Pacific, but we do not have forces there. We have no hostages to the Red Chinese. We are the ones who can take a position, and would take it if we only had a little of old-time American courage.

I have had the privilege of talking to foreign office officials, some quite high, of France and Britain, and am convinced that while they can never take a position other than that of appeasement in the Pacific, they would heave a sigh of relief, if we would take a strong position, and take the burden on our shoulders. This would accomplish what we want, and relieve them of the burden of having to explain why, both to the Russians, to the Red Chinese, and to their own political nit-wits and leftists. They might even cry that it was all wrong, but that would be their way of getting out of trouble, and putting it on our shoulders, which is where it will have to rest in the end.

All we need is to put into our top officials a kind of backbone that used to be taken for granted in America. When we have that, and proclaim it for all the world to understand, a considerable part of our troubles will start vanishing, and the balance will become manageable.

Depth Of Ingratitude For Dying Old Men

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The Public Affairs Research Council, a clique of the big-money powers, is making a determined effort to take this sales-tax money from the old-age pensioners and turn it over to the money changers. The PARC has formed plans that will keep many of these old people from being eligible for a pension, would dump scores of them back on their relatives who are now paying $50 or $60 a month withholding tax (also paying the two per cent sales tax) and the state would have a lien on the property of those who made suitable proficiency to get on.

The state has no right to call for a lien on the homes of these old people because the state pays not one cent on these pensions. Any two - bit lawyer can prove the two per cent sales tax was established to pay for this welfare. Understand, please, no effort is being made to cut the sales tax and there is enough money right now in the treasury to pension every person over 65. The money sharks are going after this money because the old people are unorganized and helpless.

Exactly what this money is going for no one seems to know. Recently $25 million, maybe more, has been turned over to the highway department. The federal government was going to add 37 and a half million dollars ($37,500,000) to the $25 million. It pays three fifths of these pensions. Total, 67 and a half million dollars ($37,500,000) which would have been spent for food and clothing here in this state, has gone with the wind? All this has been promulgated by our state and it is the depth of rascality. If these laws go through, our legislators should hang their heads like Judas Iscariot. This would be unlike civilized people; it would be a backward step toward heathenism.

These old people are going after the legislators who would pass these laws. They want their names. There will be no political future for them.

THOMAS A. HILTON

"Ambassadress"

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Your reason for having Mrs. Luce recalled from her post in Italy was distinctly surprising. If I am not too greatly mistaken, the tenor of many of your past editorials lamented the ingratitude of certain countries towards lavish American expenditures. You would have had us withdraw aid if they did not act more cooperatively. And Secretary Dulles recently expressed himself along similar lines as to arouse France. In this light, Mrs. Luce's statement is scarcely "fantastic and amazing."

Whether the "Ambassadress" acted wisely or rightly or wrongly is one question. Whether the Italian government actually fell as a direct consequence of her statement is another. In either case, judgement cannot be passed without access to all necessary diplomatic correspondence and information. But the final question to ask is whether Mrs. Luce spoke otherwise than according to Dulles' policy. Only after such an analysis can one issue condemnations.

Quacks In Every Field

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I see that the Medical Society is jumping on the chiropractors with all they have. I want to say I am 63 years old and I am sure that almost everyone goes to an M. D. before they go to a chiropractor. In 1948 I went to one of the best M. D.'s in Camden, Ark. When I told him how I felt he looked at me like he thought I was a wild woman and told me I was going crazy. He told me that unless I took all of the shots and medicine he prescribed I would not have much longer to live. I bought many medicines that I really could not afford and got no relief. After six months I went to another M. D. He also gave me shots and diagnosed my case differently from the first doctor. He told me that at my age, in order to get relief from pain, I would have to take medicine the rest of my life.

The doctors are making plenty of money charging for treatments and drugs that do no good. I know that some chiropractors are quacks and some M. D.'s are too. There are quacks in every field in the world. We have some wonderful M. D.'s, also some wonderful chiropractors. There are some things a medical doctor can do that a chiropractor can't do for a patient and some things a chiropractor can do that an M. D. cannot. I have been treated by seven chiropractors and not one has given me a dose of medicine or sent me to a drug store for anything.

Song Of Hate

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

'No one is afraid' was repeated several times in your editorial about the President's speech. Be assured that the President has sense enough to recognize what the people fear and loyalty enough to be on the alert. It was not hard to tell from his speech that he is concerned about present investigating trends. You are more than unjust when you infer that he thinks the people are 'fear crazed zealots.' The President is of strong moral fiber and it would not be as easy as you seem to think for him to be 'led' from any course that he thinks right and just.

When powerful and power-hungry men chant their song of hate—twenty years of treason—trying to inflame people—not against Communists—but against loyal Americans, it's high time to be just afraid enough to be on the alert for what they may say or do next.

"INTERESTED READER."

Why Chiropractors Should Be Licensed

West Monroe, Louisiana.

Editor, Morning World:

While I am only a temporary resident here, I have become interested in the controversy on the issue of chiropractors in this state.

My work, as a construction superintendent, has taken me into many states for various periods of time. Since about 1925 I have always looked for a good chiropractor and take more or less periodic checkups, and have received excellent results in all cases where I would be fortunate enough to get a good chiropractor.

I have found this comparatively easy to do in states where the chiropractors are licensed under a board of examiners consisting of qualified chiropractors. There you would, at least, know that the man is qualified from the standpoint of education and a knowledge of the human body.

In states that have no law of regulation, but only prohibition, one has to go through a process of trial and error to get a qualified chiropractor. One of sorts can always be found, as prohibition does not prevent the practice any more than our "noble experiment" in prohibition prevented the sale and consumption of alcohol.

My first experience, about 1925, was for intestinal indigestion. After going to several M. D.'s and obtaining only temporary relief, I went to a chiropractor on the advice of a friend. After several months of treatments, or adjustments, coupled with a modified diet, the condition was completely overcome and I enjoyed excellent health. Since that time I have had some similar experiences, but a short course of adjustments by a chiropractor have always relieved me for a long period of time.

Since that time also I have suffered common colds, hives, flu, virus pneumonia and numerous other minor ailments, all of which were successfully treated solely by chiropractors.

Several months ago I came to West Monroe with extremely high blood pressure and rather severe abdominal trouble. I went to one of your men here who, under the present law, has to practice under the guise of masseur. Within a week my blood pressure was down to 140 and within two weeks it was 130, and has remained there for about two months now. The abdominal trouble is all cleared up and I eat anything within reason without distress. In short, I feel that I am again a well man.

Incidentally, two of the best chiropractors I have ever had experience with are in the state of Louisiana and located, one here in West Monroe and one in New Orleans.

Chiropractors should be licensed under a board composed of their peers. (Chiropractors, not M. D.'s.)

In Louisiana barbers, beauticians, opticians, chiropodists, and nearly all people rendering such service, are licensed. Why not chiropractors? Forty-four of the forty-eight states license and control them. Why not Louisiana?

Approximately one hundred and forty accident and health insurance companies recognize and pay for chiropractors on the same basis as they do M. D.'s and surgeons. No doubt the chiropractor would have to be licensed in order for an insured person to avail himself of his services under the circumstances in this state.

A doctor of chiropractic is required to have four years in a chiropractic college consisting of 4,400-60 minute hours. The chiropractic curriculum and hours of study parallel the minimum requirements of the American Medical Association for class A schools, and in some colleges also two years of pre-med, or academic college before beginning the chiropractic course.

The day of the farm-hand, or mechanic, dropping his work and starting the practice of chiropractic is past, except in states that have no law to govern (not prohibit) them.

I could tell, from personal observation, of a number of miraculous cures made by chiropractors, but it would require too much space.

Finally, it does seem to me that the people of Louisiana, the same as in forty-four other states, should be allowed to avail themselves of this essential service under the protection of law.

Christian Thinking Needs Solid Foundation

Winnsboro, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Thank you for your editorial of April 2, 1954, "God Bless United Nations."

While it has been my observation that most newspapers follow a common pattern in presenting the news and advertising to the public, I also find the true nature and individualism of the paper revealed on the editorial pages.

Your editorial leads me to believe that your thinking along this line coincides with many true Christian Americans.

It takes no great display of imagination to realize that a solid Christian - thinking group of nations cannot be built from the top down, but must rise from solid foundations. Their blessings from God can only be in ratio to the faith of all concerned.

I concur that it would be presumptious on our part, to ask God's blessing on that which is not His.

Our only plea should be, "God be merciful to me a sinner." When individuals can merit God's blessings, then we may ask of Him with impunity!

Thank you again for this revealing editorial.

New Louisiana Constitution

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

On the front page of the Sunday 4-4-54 issue of the Monroe Morning World, I saw a legislative proposal set forth by the Louisiana Bar Association calling for constitutional convention with unprecedented, supreme power over the legislature and the entire state government. The text of this proposal are as follows. ie. "The convention shall have the power to frame and adopt a new constitution for the state of Louisiana which will establish a frame-work of government, but may submit all or any part of such constitution to the vote of the qualified electors of the state at an election which the convention shall call for such time and under such conditions as it may provide."

In the first place, will you please note the loose - jointed construction of this text. First, they ask for power that would set the convention up with supreme dictatorial power over the legislature and the entire state government; inasmuch as they ask for power to write a new constitution (which is the supreme law of the state) and to adopt it under such conditions as they may provide. They make only a pretense at offering new constitutional legislation to the electorate. They say, "but may submit," the word "may" doesn't mean "shall," therefore it would be entirely discretionary with the convention. Whatever procedure they make would be legal. Here is another loose joint, they say, "but may submit — to a vote of the qualified electors." Under this regime, the convention could say who are qualified to vote on amendments, and who are not qualified. They could hand pick the voters.

Secondly, they propose a new constitution. A new constitution is something that is not in existence; therefore a new constitution would repeal and obliterate the present constitution. They complain that the volume of the present constitution is too long and cumbersome. Well, the reason for this is because so many amendments have been adopted that repeals others that remain on the books; therefore it's like looking for the proverbial needle in the hay stack. My solution of this problem is an indexed codification of the present constitution. This would greatly shorten the volume, and could be done by an act of the legislature.

To make a long story short: I think that the governor is the most appropriate party to suggest changes in the constitution, and the legislature should retain its power to adopt such resolutions, and the citizens should not be deprived of the right to ratify amendments.

National Post Goes To La. Tech Professor

RUSTON, April 10 (Special) — Appointed as consultant to the commission on accreditation of service experiences, Washington, D. C., Dr. Robert Patrick, professor of business law at Louisiana Tech, is one of three civilian educators who will evaluate business law courses offered military personnel through the United States Armed Forces Institute.

Dr. Patrick, who joined the faculty at Tech last fall, is a veteran of World War II and a former practicing attorney. He received the bachelor of science degree from Southern Illinois University and the degree of doctor of law from the University of Illinois.

Consultants chosen by the CASE are asked to recommend the amount and level of credit that should be given by various educational institutions for the completion of certain courses in branches of the armed services. Evaluations are made independently and reported to the commission, which was established by the American Council on Education. Upon receipt of all reports, the commission attempts to reconcile these evaluations into a general recommendation of credit, Dr. Patrick said.

In submitting the USAFI courses to the consultants, the commission sends each consultant the textbook concerned, the lesson plans and a copy of the final examination. Recommendations for credit will be made only for those training programs in which there is adequate demonstration of academic achievement, Dr. Patrick said.

St. Francis Hospital Auxiliary Formed Here

"For God and humanity, we have associated ourselves together for the purpose of assisting the Sisters of St. Francis Hospital in every manner possible to adequately care for the sick of our community, by participating in and contributing to the work of the hospital."

This is the preamble of the St. Francis Hospital Auxiliary whose membership is open to women of all faiths. The purpose of the organization is for women to join together to aid the sick and needy confined within the walls of a hospital.

Membership in the organization, which further cites as its purpose "assistance to the Franciscan Sisters of St. Francis Hospital, financially and otherwise; service to patients, assistance to the hospital personnel and the promotion of good public relations," is open to any person of good character desiring to help in the work of the organization.

As its opening mission of service to St. Francis Hospital the immediate project of the auxiliary is to purchase an incubator for the baby ward. Under the guiding hand of its president, Mrs. Charles M. Mitchell, and Mother Marie Gertrude, Mother Superior of the hospital, capable planning has been laid for a silver tea to be held on April 20.

Including beautiful gardens and homes in the city of Monroe the St. Francis Auxiliary will use all proceeds towards the purchase of the incubator. Homes to be visited on the tour, representing four different types of architecture, are Layton Castle, the Sig Masur home, the traditional home of the O'Kelly family and that of Mrs. Henry Guerriero.

Officers of the auxiliary stressed the need of additional members to carry on the work and stated that membership was open at all times and that no invitation was needed to join. The auxiliary meets the fourth Monday of each month.

Headed by Mrs. Mitchell as president the officer's panel of the auxiliary further includes the following officers: Mrs. J. Echard Wheeler, vice - president; Mrs. D. M. Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. F. E. Polen, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Stanton Huey, treasurer; Mrs. Vincent Marsala, historian; and Mrs. H. F. Madison, Jr., parliamentarian.

MRS. IDA KAPLAN

Mrs. Ida Kaplan Named President Of Temple Israel

Mrs. Ida Kaplan, for some years one of the foremost business women in this part of the state, having directed the operations of the expansive Monroe Furniture Company, one of the big Monroe concerns, now has a new honor.

This one is unique, for when elected president of B'Nai Israel the past week, it was the first time that such honor ever was accorded a woman, men in the past always being chosen.

Mrs. Kaplan's election was in recognition of her steadfast support of the Temple and to her interest in all that it concerns. Now retired from active business life, she is able to give much time to the affairs of the Temple. Also she is eager and ready to assist in civic affairs as well as those of her church.

With a far-sighted, capable woman at the helm, it is expected that the religious life of the Temple will be deepened and expanded under the wise, far-sighted leadership of Mrs. Kaplan.

Home Exemption Forms Signed By About 65 Per Cent

Approximately 65 per cent of the home owners in Ouachita parish have signed homestead exemption forms, Bert Coverdale, parish tax assessor, said Saturday. The application forms for exemptions are available at the assessor's office on the first floor of the court house.

In making the announcement of the percentage of persons who have already signed the forms, Coverdale also said the deadline for taking advantage of the lowering of taxes is "only about a month off, or until May 15." Any homeowner who has not signed the application forms by that date will not be eligible for reduced taxes.

In order to facilitate the signing of these forms, Coverdale pointed out, the office will be kept open during the noon hour until the deadline. However, the assessor urged that persons not wait until the last minute to come by the office, since "there is always a last minute rush and this will cause a waiting at the office." The forms have already been filled out, except for the signatures, and can be signed within a "couple of minutes" of the time the person comes into the office, he said.

The following building permits have been issued by city building inspector S. H. Awl:

Voting Machine Demonstrations Will Be Given

R. Dean Farr, Ouachita parish clerk of court, Saturday morning urged all persons who have not seen the operation of the voting machine to come by his office within the next three weeks so "we can give them a demonstration of the handling of the machine."

A voting machine has been on display in the hall of the parish court house for approximately one month after it was officially demonstrated by Wade O. Martin, secretary of state, and Farr. Present plans call for the retention of the machine in the hall for approximately one month more.

"The operation of the machine is very simple, once a person sees how it is handled," Farr pointed out. "However, with the large number of buttons, it is also easy to see how one might get confused."

Farr urged that persons come anytime between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Industry Rivals Farming In Rich Morehouse Area

By JACK LIDDELL

The history of Morehouse parish, bounded on the North by Ashley County, Arkansas, on the East by West Carroll parish, on the South by the parishes of Richland and Ouachita, and on the West bounded by Union parish across the Ouachita river, is closely linked to the history of Ouachita parish, of which Morehouse was a part until the year 1844.

Dating back to 1803, the year of the Louisiana Purchase and the formation of the Territory, and later the State of Louisiana, Ouachita parish included all of northeast Louisiana except Catahoula and Concordia parishes.

France ceded the province of Louisiana to Spain in the year 1762. Governor O'Reily ordered a census taken of the population of the province by districts in 1769. At that time the Ouachita district, of which Morehouse parish was a part, included practically all of northern Louisiana and southern Arkansas. The census showed only 110 white persons in the entire district.

Governor Miro in 1783, appointed Don Juan Filhoil commandant of the Ouachita District. In 1785 Filhoil established his post at a place called de Cannots on the Ouachita river which later became known as Ouachita Post, Firt Miro, and now, the present city of Monroe.

The present Morehouse parish, with its 514,560 acres or 1200 square miles (Morehouse parish tax assessor figures), had as its first settler of record a Francois Bonaventure, an Indian trader, who located at Point Pleasant on Bayou Bartholomew, just outside the present city limits of Bastrop on U. S. Highway 165, in the year 1785.

Baron De Bastrop

In 1795 Spain ceded all her land east of the Mississippi river to the Republic of the United States and the Spanish Governor Baron de Carondelet then started an all out colonization policy to people the remainder of the Spanish domain in this country. During the year 1796, a Dutch nobleman, Baron de Bastrop, said to be fleeing the French Revolution, arrived in Louisiana, and met with Governor Carondelet. Baron de Bastrop petitioned the Governor for a grant of 36 miles square of land. The request was granted June 21, 1796. On June 14, 1799, Don Carlos Trudeau, the Royal Surveyor of the Provinces, executed a certificate of the plotting of a tract containing 36 miles square, for Baron de Bastrop. The tract of land contained practically all of Morehouse parish except for the southern portion and extreme northwestern corner. The tract also covered a part of West Carroll parish, extending into southeast Arkansas. An attachment to the grant stipulated that Baron de Bastrop bring in at least 500 families as settlers. A subsequent grant giving the Baron exclusive rights to both banks of Bayou Bartholomew from its source to its mouth required him to establish at least one flour or grist mill within two years.

The Baron de Bastrop sold large sections of the grant to Abraham Morehouse and Edward Livingstone. Morehouse sold a large section to Captain Josiah Davenport and Livingstone sold part of his land to a General Adair. Parts of the land has changed hands many times involving such persons as John Blanton, Charles Lynch, Stephen Wendt and Aaron Burr.

Abraham Morehouse was a native of the State of Kentucky. Between the years 1805 and 1813 he sold land to 90 persons of record ranging from 30 to 10,000 acre tracts. Some of the buyers were in the Ouachita District. Others came from Natchez, Mississippi and Concordia, Louisiana sections. Some came from Kentucky, the home state of Morehouse. Thus, begins to be born, the Parish of Morehouse, Louisiana.

Mer Rouge

Mer Rouge, first called Prairie Mer Rouge, had as one of its first settlers in addition to Abraham Morehouse, Captain Josiah Davenport, a native of Providence, Rhode Island, who arrived in 1806 and located his home near the present town.

Decendants of Captain Davenport still own part of the original Davenport property. Morehouse located his home about one mile west of Mer Rouge. It is said to have been the first wood frame house built in this section. And too, it had brick chimneys from the fireplaces. The Abraham Morehouse Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution plan to place a suitable marker at or near the Morehouse homesite commending the event in May, 1954. Captain Davenport built the first cotton gin in the parish. James Barlow, Walter S. White and A. A. H. Knox were other first settlers of Mer Rouge and the parish.

With the coming of the railroad in 1890 the settlement at Mer Rouge began to turn to village size. A charter was issued on October 28, 1898 as the village of Mer Rouge with S. M. Gibson named as mayor, James E. Wimberly, Thomas H. B. Andrews and C. C. Davenport, aldermen; and H. L. McFarlin, marshal.

Mer Rouge is the center of a rich agricultural region. An important trading point with up to date business houses, services and prosperious bank. It is located on the mainline Missouri Pacific Railway, at the intersection of U. S. Highway 165 and state highway 11. Two other hard surfaced roads from other directions enter Mer Rouge—from U. S. 80 at Girard near Rayville—and route C1557 from Collinston.

The religious and educational needs of the community are amply met with well staffed churches and schools. As one enters the town from the south on U. S. Highway 165, the main thoroughfare, one will witness one of the loveliest scenes of this section of the state. The citizens of Mer Rouge are proud of their homes and town.

Bonita

Bonita is in the north central part of the parish and was incorporated December 29, 1903 with Dr. R. L. Credille as mayor, H. W. Buatt, D. E. Harp, Jake Seligman, aldermen; and Edward M. Jones, marshal. Bonita, principally a farm town is surrounded by productive agricultural and cattle raising sections. Located on the mainline Missouri Pacific Railway and U. S. Highway 165, the town is supplied with sufficient transportation facilities. Good parish gravel farm to market roads are in the area. The towns religious and educational needs are well provided.

Jones

Jones, an unincorporated village, about three miles north of Bonita on the Missouri Pacific Railway and U. S. Highway 165, has a post office, several stores, auto service stations and two cotton gins. Jones is in a very productive farming and cattle raising area.

Oak Ridge

The village of Oak Ridge, the third oldest settlement in Morehouse parish, was first known as Prairie Jefferson. There one will recognize more than in any other part of the parish, the delightful old customs and habits of the old South. Many of the citizens are decendents of the original settlers and their truly southern spirit and hospitality is a joy to behold. One of the first rare old homes of the parish built more than a hundred years ago is a proud home on the main street of the town.

Oak Ridge was incorporated as a village September 13, 1904 with T. D. Files, mayor, W. T. Barham, F. W. Files, John McClendon, John Flynn, R. L. Binion, councilmen; and J. J. Fitch, marshal. The town has a prosperous bank, three cotton gins and adequate stores and services to meet the needs of the area. Splendid churches and schools are in the town. Situated on the Missouri Pacific Railway and a hard surfaced road from Girard near Rayville on U. S. Highway 80 and good rural farm to market roads, the transportation needs of the community are well provided for.

Collinston

Located at the intersection of two different Missouri Pacific railines—New Orleans to St. Louis, and Natchez, Mississippi to Gurdon, Arkansas—and two hard surfaced state highways, serviced daily with freight truck and bus lines, the town is an ideal transportation center. Collinston has splendid churches and schools, two cotton gins, post office, ample stores and services to care for the needs of the community. The village of Collinston was incorporated May 17, 1904. However, the earliest commissions of record were issued April 18, 1905 to H. D. Vaughn, mayor, L. D. Freeman, F. McCormick, J. M. Rector, councilmen; and Lee Bilberry, marshal.

Bastrop

No official history of Bastrop has been located from the date it was named as the parish seat in 1844 to 1873. Records show Frank Vaughn was commissioned mayor, March 18, 1873. On June 29, 1874 commissions were issued to D. B. Smith, mayor, James Bussey, A. McMeans, W. A. Harrington and I. I. Miller councilmen. On June 18, 1909, by proclamation of the governor of Louisiana, the city was changed from a village to a town. A special legislative charter was granted the town of Bastrop in July, 1924 under which the city operated until the present city mayor, A. P. Carter, a state representative for Morehouse parish at that time, introduced a bill before the 1952 state legislature asking a revised charter be granted Bastrop in as much as the United States Government census of 1950 listed Bastrop officially with 12,769 persons. The special legislative act was approved and Bastrop was officially commissioned a city by the 1952 state legislature and Governor Robert F. Kennon.

Bastrop from a small farming village in 1920, is now tripled in population, and has become one of the important industrial centers of Louisiana. Ample railroad, highway, electrical and gas facilities are in the area. Here are located two large paper manufacturing mills of the International Paper Company. A thousand tons daily are turned out by the two mills manufacturing corrugating material from hardwood timber and high grade bleached paper from pine timber. The paper mills in Bastrop employ more men and women residents than any other industrial concerns in the parish. Other leading industrial concerns are the Bag Pak, Inc., Manufacturers of many tons daily of triple wall cement and heavy merchandise bags; Single Service Container Corporation, manufacturing millions of milk, ice cream and allied containers daily. The paper company reforestation and forest protection program are among the foremost in the nation. Still other leading industries in Bastrop are a chemical company, sawmill, turned wood products mill, sheet metal plant, meat curing plant, ice cream, dairies and others. Bastrop, with a national bank and a branch bank and a state bank with combined assets of over nine million six hundred thousand dollars is truly the business center of Morehouse parish.

Bastrop has beautiful churches well staffed with meeting places for all faiths. Bastrop schools are among the best in the state and nation. Four new elementary schools of modern design and construction were opened with the present school year term. Schools in all sections have lunch rooms for the children. Work was started in March, 1954 on a new one million, two hundred forty three thousand dollar high school in Bastrop to be completed during 1956. Excellent educational facilities are afforded both white and colored children in Morehouse parish. Morehouse parish citizens are proud of their school system.

A beautiful new modern parish library was opened at Bastrop late in 1953. A fine new parish health center was also erected in 1953. There is a city park with free swimming pool and beautiful brick recreation building in the park. There is a country club with fine golf courses drawing many hundreds of persons to Bastrop for the golf events each year. There is a city owned 160 acre CAA approved memorable airport adjacent to the city limits. The city property owners approved the present city administrations "pay as you go" plan in February, 1954 when an 8 mill tax levy for five years was overwhelmingly approved to provide for improved streets, sewerage, fire protection and recreational facilities for all the residents of Bastrop.

Chemin-A-Haut

To the north of Bastrop about eleven miles is one of the prides of the parish, beautiful Chemin-A-Haut State Park with 522 acres of well wooded land, many of the trees being straight towering pines of the long leaf variety. The park, at the intersection of Bayou Bartholomew and Chemin-A-Haut, affords fishing and has a lodge for dancing and inside games, five vacation cottages, dormitory, a superintendents residence, game courts and a large amphitheatre. There are plentiful picnic areas for cooking outdoors with shelter houses. Practically everything provided except food. The park is readily accessible to surrounding towns by paved roads. One may reserve accommodations for as many as up to a hundred persons by contacting the park superintendent.

2 Washington Rulings May Affect Gas Prices

WASHINGTON, April 10. (Special)—Two rulings out of Washington which could have extremely important bearing on the future of natural gas prices in the producing areas may come during the next few weeks.

In both instances, however, the decisions handed down could lead to legislated action by Congress, though it is unlikely that legislation in either case could be enacted until the 84th Congress convenes next January.

First is the so - called Phillips Petroleum company case which was argued before the United States Supreme Court this past week. Involved is the question whether the Federal Power Commission was authorized under the federal natural gas act to regulate the price of natural gas sold by an independent producer to an interstate pipeline company.

The commission itself, by a four to one vote, decided that it did not have this power under the terms of the gas act. On an appeal from its ruling, however, the state of Wisconsin won a two-to-one decision from the United States Circuit Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia ordering the commission, against its own will, to begin regulation of the prices charged by the independent producers at the production and gathering level.

The Supreme Court initially refused to accept for consideration an appeal from this decision filed by the commission, the Phillips Petroleum Company of Bartlesville, Okla., and the states of Texas and Oklahoma. Later, however, it agreed in one of its rare rulings of this type to reconsider its action and now will hand down a formal decision in the case, probably before the court recesses for the summer in June.

While only the proposed government regulation of the prices charged by the Phillips company for its gas sold to interstate pipeline companies is directly involved in the pending case, the ultimate decision will cover prices charged by hundreds of producers, including many independent oil companies, which produce and sell natural gas, but do not own their own transmission facilities.

Reports are also widely current in Washington that the Federal Power Commission is about to rule on the long - standing request of Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Company, one of the largest natural gas transmission companies from the southwest to the midwest and east, that the commission abandon its present "original cost" method of computing prices for natural gas and adopt, instead, the so-called "fair field" method of determining the price. Lenghty hearings and studies of this proposal have been held by the FPC over a period of nearly three years, but it has only been recently that there was an indication that the commission was about ready to render its final decision.

Because of the substantially increased value of natural gas as a commodity in recent years, as well as the much higher cost of replacing reserves which are now being used, it is anticipated by all involved in this dispute that adoption of the fair field price as the base for fixing future costs in determining interstate rates would result in substantial increases in the price of natural gas at the production level.

After both decisions are handed down, however, there is still likelihood that Congress will consider them and possibly change through legislation their final effect.

Congress once before voted by a substantial margin when it adopted the Kerr - Lyle bill against FPC regulation of prices charged for natural gas by independent producers. The bill was killed, however, by the veto for former President Truman, but will almost certainly be revived if the Supreme Court sustains the Circuit Court decision.

Meanwhile, Senator Homer Ferguson, Representative of Michigan, on behalf of the large consuming areas in his state, has already instructed a bill in the Senate which would void the "fair field price" method of computing natural gas prices by the commission in event the FPC rules in favor of the Panhandle application.

Ferguson, who contends that such a ruling by the commission would add "billions of dollars" to the cost of natural gas by consumers, declares that he will immediately press for Congressional action on his proposal if the Commission rule for the fair field price. He says that he will have the support of many members of the Senate and House of Representatives from the large gas consuming sections of the midwest and east.

College Library Is Offering New Book To Public

The Northeast Louisiana State College library is now offering to the reading public, "Fleur de Lys and Calumet," a translation of Andre Penicaut's diary. This work received the coveted Louisiana literary award for the best book written on Louisiana in 1953.

Edward Lorocque Tinker, guest speaker at the association's book dinner, is the author of "Creole City," a story of New Orleans, which also has recently been added to the library's collection.

Another current addition to the shelves is Ben Ames Williams' "The Unconquered." This is a story of the south in the reconstruction period, comparable in scale to Williams' great Civil War novel, "House Divided."

Of interest to lovers of history and biography is Harnett T. Kane's "The Lady of Arlington," a "best seller" novel based on the life of Mrs. Robert E. Lee. The New Orleans writer presents a new aspect of the "Lee story," the man as seen through the eyes of the women.

Other biographical works include "The Reign of Queen Victoria" by Hector Bolitho, and "The Journals of Lewis and Clark" edited by Benard De Voto.

A physiological study of the possibility of life on Mars is presented in Hubertus Stughold's "The Green and Red Planet." The reader will receive the most exact definitions of biological possibilities on this planet conceivable until man lands his space ship there. The author presents data on temperatures, oxygen content, solar energy, and other factors in outer space, based on a lieftime of research in aviation medicine.

For the sportsman "Fishing the Pacific" by S. Kip Farrington, Jr., will provide enjoyable reading. This book, like its companion, "Fishing the Atlantic," is predicted to become the almanac of Pacific fishing. The volume is enhanced by illustrations by Lynn Bogue Hunt.

Charles Morrow Wilson's "Liberia" presents an account of Africa's only republic, an experiment in democracy. Founded 100 years ago on the west coast of Africa, Liberia now produces about 17 per cent of the world's supply of natural rubber. While the story of Liberia is tragic and inspiring, the most decisive chapters are still in the future.

U. N. Assembly 'Pussyfooting'

WASHINGTON, April 10. (Special)—Senator William E. Jenner today declared the United Nations General Assembly is pussyfooting on the question of backing up its secretary - general.

"Instead of facing up to the issue and refusing to pay damages to American employees discharged after their refusal to say, under oath, that they were not Communists, the assembly sent the question to the International Court of Justice as though it doubted its own position as the dominant agency of the United Nations," Senator Jenner said.

The discharged employees had appealed to the Administrative Tribunal which ordered reinstatement or payment of heavy damages on the theory that the Communist conspiracy is no more than a political party.

"If this were true," said Senator Jenner, "there would be no need for these people to plead the possibility of self-incrimination in refusing to answer our questions."

"The fact is, as our record will show, that the Communist party is a creature of the Soviet government and, wherever it may be found, is engaged in an effort to destroy the governments of non-Communist nations."

500 Red Cross Boxes Sent To Needy Abroad

The Junior Red Cross fills fully 500 gift boxes to send to children in foreign countries. We at home can hardly realize that a small gift like this, containing eight to ten articles, such as tooth paste, tooth brush, needles, thread, an unbreakable toy, note pad and pencil can mean so much.

In each gift box is a letter from the school children who furnished it, with their return address. The children receiving this box can return the letter postage free through national Junior Red Cross channels.

Here is a letter which was received by the Plum Street school the past week. It was translated by Sister Magdalene. It tells the story of the project. It is as follows:

"Plum St. School,

"Mrs. Mae C. Snapp, teacher sponsor

"Dear Little Friends:

"With all my heart, I come to thank you in the name of our 43 little patients who believed they were in possession of heaven itself, when receiving each one a box. These are all little destitutes, who for the first, found themselves "Owners."

"If you could have seen their joy! The whole day of the distribution and in fact, for eight whole days, they amused themselves with their treasures.

"Many thanks, dear friends. Pray for our unfortunate little ones. Actually five of them are blind because want of food and good water. Yourselves and your dear parents should be thankful to God to be such favored children.

"I am sending you the thanks and love of the whole hospital.

Foresters Will Meet May 6-7 In Alexandria

H. H. Jefferson, safety and training officer for the American Pulpwood Association, will discuss the necessity of proper maintenance of mechanical equipment at the annual meeting of the Gulf States Section, Society of American Foresters, to be held in Alexandria, La., on May 6 and 7. The two - day meeting will combine lectures, discussions and field demonstrations of essential equipment required for modern management of forest resources. More than 100 firms are expected to display forestry equipment at the three - state meeting.

Hogan Nabs Command In Masters Play

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Baseball goes into full swing within the week, the major variety that is, with the Yankees looking too bad to be true, the Dodgers looking too good to be true, and just about everybody who tries to figure the pennant races in advance, including this corner, picking both to lead their respective races.

As we recall, the Yanks were "busted up" this time a year ago. Joe DiMaggio had retired. But New York made it in a breeze. Now they're suddenly being called "too old," and sold their pitching when Vic Raschi went to the Cards. So the Yankees have lulled the opposition into dreams of a new regime with the Cleveland Indians, Chicago White Sox, and Boston Red Sox looking for the chance to move in as kings of the American League.

The Indians, our No. 2 choice for the A. L., could do it with just a little more luck than they had a year ago. We'd like to see Dave Philley, the former Monroe outfielder, acquired from the Philadelphia Phils, give them the necessary lift. Chicago and Boston appear to rank next with the Chisox considered a shade better, particularly since the Red Hose's Ted Williams has become such a security risk. We have a feeling something is brewing in Chi where the advanced sale of tickets already has reached a record peak for the Pale Sox. The fans must feel Paul Richards finally has the key.

Washington, Philadelphia, Detroit, and Baltimore take the second division in that order.

If anybody can unseat the Dodgers in the National League it looks like it will have to be the fired-up town of Milwaukee. The Cardinals and Giants, with possibly Philadelphia's Phils, ought to battle it out for third place with the Giants getting our call and the Cards barely beating out the Phils for the No. 4 sopt. Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, and Chicago's Cubs trail in that order.

Spring training was far from the liking for most clubs. Too many injuries. For a while it looked like, and still could be, that the races might be decided by key players winding up on hospital rolls. But a lot of things can still happen between now and October. After all, there are 154 games to go from Tuesday's start.

The Twin Cities Sports and the Cotton States League will be primed for the same sort of start in another couple of weeks. Right now Manager Ed Head is more concerned with whipping his squad into shape, determining where he needs strength and taking steps to get it, and, from the business office end, the Sports are still pushing the advanced sale of tickets at lowered rates as the fans are being awarded the benefits of government tax reductions. Boxes are $8 cheaper, those books of 20 tickets have been reduced from 14.40 to $13.50, and general admission prices at the gate will be down as well. Those who have already purchased in advance have refunds coming, or they can donate the overcharge to helping the club by notifying the club to this effect.

The big push is to sell those 20-ticket books—enough to assure a successful gate. Make your order now! Since Manager Head is so busy trying to mould a team, Jim Williams at the Chamber of Commerce and Saul Adler at Adler Tire Company have volunteered their services as focal points for accepting ticket orders. Place your order, the tickets will be delivered, and you will be billed, or check or money order to the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation will get the same results.

Rain Spikes 5th Workout For Head And His Sports

Rain took a swipe at the Twin Cities Sports yesterday, spoiling their scheduled day afield at Legion Memorial Stadium, but Manager Ed Head made his fifth day of spring training a successful one by calling a clubhouse class for instructions on fundamentals.

"Professor" Head directed the skull session which included discussions on hitting, bunting, base running and other fundamentals of the game. A workout has been called for this afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock, and tomorrow the Sports will return to their regular weekday starting time of 10 a.m.

While the steady drizzle of rain was not a hard one, the field at the ball park has not yet sodden enough from a recent renovation and attempting to run on the field could have spoiled the recent work of grading and reseeding.

Head reported last night that he is expecting two or three more players to join his camp today or tomorrow but he said he is reluctant to discuss them until "I know we have them in the fold."

April 30 Deadline For More Entries In Softball Loops

According to Jack Hesketh, Monroe Recreation director, five teams have been entered to date in the City Softball League, with one entry needed to round out a six-team loop. April 30 is the entry deadline.

Teams already entered in the City League are Three - Way Finance, News-Star, Missouri Pacific, Foremost Dairies and United Gas.

In the Church League, seven entries are registered thus far, with the entry deadline also set for April 30. Teams entered are Gordon Avenue Methodist, First Baptist of Monroe, College Place Baptist, Central Baptist, Temple Baptist, Sterlington Baptist, and Cypress Street Church of God.

Six teams have been entered in the Civic Club League with the same April 30 deadline for further entries. Clubs haying already entered teams are West Monroe Lions, North Monroe Lions, Jaycees, Monroe V. F. W., Progressive Men, and Exchange Club.

Mr. Hesketh advises that any organization wishing to enter a team in any league can do so by contacting the Recreation Center at 113 Catalpa, or telephoning 2-2170.

Midget, Junior and Senior Leagues will begin play when school terminates, but teams may register now for these loops.

Teams desiring to use the softball fields for workouts should make reservations at the Recreation Center.

Chatham Resets Date For Annual Baseball Event

CHATHAM, La., April 10. (Special)—Chatham High School has rescheduled its baseball tournament and at the same time opened the event for high schools of all classes desiring to participate, it was announced here today.

The tournament, originally billed for April 23-24, has been moved back to April 30-May 1 to avoid conflicting with the district softball tournament at Ruston. The Chatham event was also originally limited to B and C schools but now is open to A and AA if any of the higher classification schools desire to participate.

Lakers Tip Nats, 84-73, To Forge Ahead In Series

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 10. (AP)—Leading all the way, the Minneapolis Lakers defeated the Syracuse Nationals 84-73 today to move within one victory of clinching the National Basketball Association championship.

The Lakers carry a 3-2 edge in the best - of - seven series which moves to Minneapolis Sunday afternoon. If a seventh game is necessary it will be played there Monday night.

Five Lakers hit in double figures with Verne Mikkelsen getting 21 points, George Mikan and Clyde Lovellette 14 apiece, Jim Holstein 11 and Jim Pollard 10. Mikkelsen, Mikan, Lovellette and Pollard gave the Lakers a tremendous advantage on the backboards grabbing 65 rebounds compared to only 37 for the Nats.

Despite a broken left wrist, Dolph Schayes tallied 12 points in the third period to bring the Nats within four points before Lovellette and Pollard moved the Lakers ahead 62-52 at the three-quarter mark.

Jim Holstein, a sub, contributed eight points in the final quarter as the Nats were stymied after pulling to within 72-67.

Schayes tallied 17 points, Paul Seymour 16 and Wally Osterkorn 14 for the Nats.

Three Games On Tap For Northeast Club

Northeast Louisiana States baseball battle, scheduled for yesterday with Southeastern Louisiana, was knocked out because of rain, but Coach Woody Boyles' charges have three games on tap for this week—Northwestern at Natchitoches Tuesday, Louisiana College here Wednesday, and Arkansas A. and M. here Saturday.

Southeastern's win over Louisiana Tech Friday, plus S. L. I.'s lost to Louisiana College, enabled the Hammond club to take the lead in the Gulf States Conference race. Northeast, with a lone league loss to S. L. I., could tie for second place by beating Northwestern Tuesday.

Sam Snead Gains Second As Patton Skids Into Third

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 10 (AP)—Ben Hogan, the little man who is feared and respected by every golfing rival, took command of the Masters Tournament today with only the equally-respected Sam Snead to contend with him through tomorrow's final round.

After two days when an upstart amateur, Billy Joe Patton, was the leader for two rounds, the veteran pros took over as if to prove that no outsider could interfere with their business.

Hogan, shooting his first sub-par round of the tournament, 34-35—69, with the aid of a pair of trap shots that brought ovations from the huge gallery, went into a three-stroke lead. After 54 holes, Ben's total was 214, nine strokes off his record pace of last year.

Snead, who threatened for a while to overtake his old rival, started the day two strokes back and finished three behind at 217.

Patton, however, refused to accept the fate predicted for a presumptious week-end player who suddenly found himself among the golfing elite. After shooting a 144 total, even par, for the first two rounds, the young North Carolina lumber dealer overcame a bad start to shoot a respectable 75.

Patton's 219 total put him in a three way tie with professionals Cary Middlecoff and Tommy Bolt, who scored 70 and 72, respectively. Middlecoff, one of the most consistent players on the winter tour, hit a hot streak on the back nine for a 32 after apparently being out of contention.

The leaders:

Ben Hogan, Palm Springs, Calif. 72-73-69—214.

Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. 74-73-70—217.

Tommy Bolt, Houston, Tex. 73-74-72—219.

Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., 73-76-70—219.

xWilliam J. Patton, Morganton, N.C., 70-74-75—219.

Jack Burke Jr., Kiamesha Lake, N.Y. 71-77-73—221.

Jerry Barber, La Canada, Calif., 74-76-71—221.

Robert Rosburg, Chicago 73-73-76—222.

Al Besselink, Grossinger, N.Y., 74-74-74—222.

Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., 71-75-76—222.

Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., 74-74-74—222.

xKen Venturi, San Francisco, 76-74-73—223.

Evangeline May Emulate '53 Cotton States Story

By LYLE SCHWILLING

NEW ORLEANS, April 10—UP—The Evangeline League set Saturday for a new opening for a 140-game season with three new clubs and the possibility of upheavals over use of Negro players for the first time.

The Class C league that stretches from Texas City, Tex., to Baton Rouge, La., has a "gentlemen's agreement" by tradition and by ratification at a meeting at Lafayette, La., earlier this year to hold to the color line.

But oil, and now baseball magnate J. C. Stroud who owns the Port Arthur club, which along with Texas City and Lake Charles came to the Vangy from the defunct Gulf Coast League, has two Negro players on his roster.

And there's little doubt in league circles but that he plans to break the gentlemen's agreement. When he does in the deep south towns of Louisiana, there may be more fireworks than the mixup which caused some forfeitures in the Cotton State League last year over use of two Negro players.

The three new members of the league were in the also-ran class in the Class C Gulf Coast loop last year, but may be counted upon to provide trouble in the kop the kup race.

The Crowley Millers, Vangy pennant winner last year, came back almost as strong this year and are an early favorite to win the pennant.

The Millers lost four key players—first baseman Conk Meriwether, last year's home run king, catcher Don Keeter and pitchers Charlie Nelson and Gil Ross.

But manager Tony York has several new players to bolster his squad. Veterans Art Edinger and Jimmy Moore give the Millers one of the best outfielders in the loop.

There's also New Iberia, which got the franchise, manager, and most of the players from Thibodeaux. The Pels are a vibrant club and fans in sugarland have heartily backed the club this spring — a move which always helps in player morale and play on the field.

While the Pels recovered with relative ease from their financial worries, Lafayette and Baton Rouge did not. Lafayette put on a "we want baseball" drive and came up with ready cash.

Baton Rouge was a different story. Even after spring training opened, the Red Sticks did not have the money to pay off back debts — including a healthy sum to the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (the minors) — which had to be paid before the club could play this year.

They pulled through at the last minute — and the eight-club league agreed upon last January in Lafayette will start the season Monday. Opening day play will be Lake Charles at Crowley, Lafayette at New Iberia, Alexandria at Baton Rouge and Texas City at Port Arthur.

Salton Sea Defeated By 25-Year-Old Man

INDIO, Calif., April 10 (AP)—Ray Carmassi, 25, crept out of the water onto the eastern shore of the Salton Sea today, claiming the first victory over the 12-mile-wide body of water near here.

Carmassi, and a Glendale High School student, Dave Serne, 17, plunged in together from the west shore last night.

But Serne left the water two hours later, about ¾ of a mile behind Carmassi.

Buffeted by high winds and shrouded in fog, Carmassi made the crossing in 11 hours, 10⅓ minutes. Officials said the winds blew so hard that he actually went 16 miles instead of a planned 12-mile crossing.

He originally intended to swim round trip.

Players To Talk Of Pension Plans At Session Today

CLEVELAND, April 10—UP—The 16 major league player representatives will gather here Sunday to study "several important modifications" made by the club owners in the still unsettled baseball pension plan.

Although an "agreement" was reached by both the owners and players in New York last February, the pact had to be ratified by both sides.

The owners met for the purpose of ratifying the agreement in Miami, Fla., last month and suggested modifications that the player representatives will vote either to accept or reject Sunday.

At the February meeting in New York — in which John Galbreath of Pittsburgh and Hank Greenberg of Cleveland represented the owners while Ralph Kiner of the Cubs, Allie Reynolds of the Yankees and Attorney J. Norman Lewis represented the players — it was decided that 60 per cent of the proceeds from all-star and World Series' games would go into the pension fund.

Galbreath and Greenberg are not scheduled to attend Sunday's meeting but they have notified Lewis that they will be available if there are any questions.

Ring King Whips Derby Hopes In Chesapeake Run

LAUREL, Md., April 10. (AP)—Ring King, who got a late start in horse racing, made up for lost time today by winning the Chesapeake Stakes with comparative ease while two Kentucky Derby eligibles lagged behind.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice had failed to nominate the son of Alsab for any of the big 3-year-old classics, Derby, Preakness or Belmont. But trainer Tommie Kelly said after Ring King's second straight stakes triumph this year that she undoubtedly would put up $7,500 to make him a late eligible for the Preakness at Pimlico May 22.

Alsab won the Preakness 12 years ago.

Jockey Oliver Cutshaw sent Ring King to the head of the pack of nine 3-year-olds after they had gone three quarters of a mile and rode him out down to the finish of the mile and sixteenth to win by 2¾ lengths.

H. A. Jones's For Free, an eligible for the triple crown, finished fast to take second by a neck over A. Roberts' Thither. E. M. O'Briens Galdar, the other Derby eligible in the race, wound up an unchallenging seventh and never was better than sixth throughout.

Galdar took away most of the money bet by the crowd of 24,307 while those who rode with Ring King got back $10.60, $6.20 and $4.80.

Ex-Tag Team Wrestles In Mat Main Tuesday

The partnership that bankrupted into a brawl in last week's main event tag match becomes a rivalry Tuesday night at Kallio's Arena, when Pat "Big Boy" Cronin and the Alaska Wolf Man wrestle a 90-minute time limit, two-falls-to-win

As a result, popular Indian Chief Apache is relegated to a semi-final role, meeting Charro Aztec in a one-fall, no time limit bout.

History repeats itself in the opener, when West Monroe's Bill Barney again takes on Paddy Mack. This match has a 30-minute time limit, but will require two of three falls to win. These two fought in the curtain - raiser four weeks ago and Mack made Barney "give" from a crabhold.

Last week, the Alaskan and Cronin were paired in a relay tussle against the Chief and Mack. With the falls even at one apiece, Wolf Man grabbed Mack around the neck and rushed him to Cronin in the corner so that the latter could uncork a wicked punch and end the match. Something backfired, and Cronin's roundhouse swing landed on his partner's kisser, knocking him flat and enabling Mack to hop on for the press

The irate Alaskan blamed Cronin for the misfire, and the two had a rough battle in their own corner, winding up on the apron, then the floor. Hence the match between the two this week, and the loser has to depart from this territory for not less than three months.

The Chief, in the semi, takes on another hair-puller. And the Indian's long braids are very conducive to such tactics. Apache, who can't seem to keep his temper in check when his opponent resorts to illegal work, is in for an angry evening.

Mack and Barney, ordinarily clean - style wrestlers, should fight a strictly legitimate match in the opener. But Barney, who has been working out as well as wrestling in other cities lately, may give Mack a big surprise this time.

Tulane Registers 2nd Straight Win Over L. S. U., 14-9

NEW ORLEANS, April 10 (AP)—Tulane combined 12 hits, eight walks and 10 errors for a 14-9 Southeastern Conference baseball victory over Louisiana State today.

The victory gave Tulane a sweep of the two-game series and an SEC record of 4-2. It was LSU's third loss in four loop games.

Tulane's big inning was the second, scoring seven runs although getting only two hits.

Don Lloyd added another Tulane run in the third inning on a bases-empty 400-foot home run. Pete Vogt duplicated the feat in the fourth inning.

Jim Weilbaecher started for Tulane and earned credit for his third victory without a defeat but had to have help from Lionel Richard, freshman righthander, who pitched the last four innings.

St. Matthew's In 3-0 Shutout Over Collinston Nine

Coach Jay Broussard's Fighting Irish of St. Matthew's High School continued their current baseball season with a 3-0 shutout of Collinston High here yesterday afternoon.

Ed Pohlman, a lanky lefty, was the pitcher for the victors, and although he struck out none, he was just as stingy with free passes.

Carl Inzina was the heavy stickworker for the Irish, collecting a pair of singles, both at opportune times to drive in two runs. Collinston's Vaughan banged the only extra base blow of the game, a two-out three-bagger.

In the first, Louis Guirlando walked, stole second, took third on a wild pitch, and scored on Carl Inzina single.

The second frame, which completed the scoring, saw St. Matthew's tally their other two runs. Frank Jungina was safe on an error, stole second, and took third on another wild pitch. Pitcher Pohlman squeezed him in, and was safe himself at first. Guirlando forced Pohlman at second, and the Irish scoring formula went into action for the third time. Guirlando stole second, was wild-pitched to third, and scampered home on Carl's second single.

Antley bagged his third consecutive home run making a total of five for the season.

Antley also has proved very efficient as catcher and also as pitcher, fanning 12 men in the Quitman game.

The Downsville team will face Junction City at Dubach this weekend in their first tournament of the season.

The girls softball team of Downsville defeated Calhoun 7-4 in an exciting game here Wednesday afternoon. Melba Biggs saved the afternoon for Downsville as she hit a home run with three on base.

All Clubs Show Revisions Since Last Year's Race

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 10. (AP)— The long spring training grind is over tomorrow for the 16 major league baseball clubs. That gives the managers just two days to take stock of their teams and balance the assets against the liabilities before the regular season gets under way. What do the ledgers show?

National League

St. Louis credits: Acquisition of ace righthander Vic Raschi from Yankees; showing of rookie outfielders Wally Moon and Joe Frazier; improvement of bench through purchase of infielders Alex Grammas and Tom Alston; Stan Musial, Red Schoendienst, Enos Slaughter — period.

Milwaukee credits: brilliant promise of sophomore pitcher Bob Buhl; showing of rookie pitchers Gene Conley and Ray Crone; hitting potential shown by rookie outfielder Henry Aaron; added punch in Bobby Thomson and Danny O'Connell; Warren Spahn and Ed Mathews.

Milwaukee debits: failure of exserviceman Chet Nichols to return to 1951 pitching form; loss of injured Thomson for indefinite period; poor showing of Phil Paine, expected No. 1 relief pitcher; poor second line catching behind Del Crandall.

New York credits: return of Willie Mays; addition of southpaws Johnny Antonelli and Don Liddle; complete recovery of Monte Irvin; promise of rookie catcher Ray Katt.

New York debits: advanced age of pitchers Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen; uncertain condition of second baseman Davey Williams' back; lack of "stopper" on pitching staff; mediocre bench.

Cincinnati debits: lack of righthanded starters; need more outfield defense; failure of defensive wizard Roy McMillan to improve hitting.

Brooklyn credits: Return of Don Newcombe; improvement of Junior Gilliam; over - all hitting strength.

Brooklyn debits: advanced age of the regulars, with all except Duke Snider and Gilliam past 30.

Pittsburgh debits: lack of experienced hands; thin pitching staff; defensive weakness in infield and outfield.

American League

Boston credits: development of youngsters such as Billy Consolo, Ted Lepcio, Harry Agganis, Milt Bolling, Bill Henry; superlative outfielding of Jimmy Piersall; showing of rookie pitchers Tom Brewer and Truman Clevinger and veteran catcher Mickey Owen.

Chicago credits: hitting of Bob Boyd and pitching of rookie Jack Harshman; comeback of Don Johnson; addition of Johnny Groth and Willward Marshall.

Chicago debits: absence of third baseman forcing the shifting of outfielder Minnie Minoso to the hot corner; need for another power hitter and starting pitcher.

Cleveland credits: showing of unheralded rookie Rudy Regalado; addition of Dave Philley; hitting of Wally Westlake; Al Rosen, American League's No. 1 player.

Cleveland debits: failure of first baseman Rocky Nelson; indifferent infield; need of a fourth starter to go with Lemon, Garcia and Wynn.

Detroit credits: improvement in infield because of hitting of Walter Dropo and showing of rookie Frank Bolling; continued outstanding work of Harvey Kuenn; promise of rookie outfielders Bill Tuttle and Al Kaline.

Detroit debits: lack of lefthanded power hitter; poor pitching; weak catching; uncertain outfield

New York credits: hitting of rookies Bill Skowron and Bob Cerv and pitching of rookie Bob Grim; addition of righthander Harry Byrd.

New York debits: player resentment over front office charge of complacency; poor showing of southpaw Whitey Ford and failure of rookie lefthander Steve Kraly to stick; loss of Billy Martin; Mickey Mantle's condition.

Philadelphia credits: better attitude and hustle; showing of rookies Bob Trice and Vic Power; comeback of Bobby Shantz.

Philadelphia debits: only one lefthanded hitter in lineup; mediocre infield; defensive weakness in outfield; shortage of power and pitching.

Washington credits: solid pitching; defensive strength in outfield; comeback of Pete Runnels; newfound punch of Eddie Yost.

Washington debits: a "singles" club — no power; lack of reserves; Mickey McDermott's puzzling spring showing.

Baltimore credits: addition of Eddie Waitkus at first base; new ownership and development of pitchers Don Larsen and Bob Turley.

Baltimore debits: look too much like the old Browns; very little help from newcomers and lack of speed and depth in pitching.

Joe Adcock Ordered To Report To Draft Board For Physical

MILWAUKEE, April 10 (AP) — Joe Adcock, the Milwaukee Braves regular—and almost their only—first baseman, received orders today from his Shreveport, La., draft board to report for a physical examination.

The big first baseman, who is backed on the Braves roster only by George Metkovich, played in all 157 games played by the National League runners up last season.

'TAINT NOTHIN' . . .

. . . to sneeze at! That is . . . this large (1473 sq. feet of living area) with as many unusual features priced so reasonable. Here's a comfortable family home on a 150'x250' lot with nice shade trees located on the RESTFUL HOME ROAD in W. Monroe that abounds with comfortable features. There's a spacious living room & separate dining area; roomy kitchen with washer plumbing, unusually nice cabinet space and a separate breakfast area; both bedrooms are spacious with nice closet space; there's a 9'x23' den on the back of the home as well as central heat and an enclosed garage. $2200 down buys it, but looking is free!

IF THE LITTLE ONE

. . . becomes of school age this spring, and you're beginning to dread the thought of his having to cross busy streets to get there . . . do yourself a favor and take 30 short minutes this afternoon to look. 2 brand-new (3) bedroom homes just across the street from Millsaps Grammar school in W. Monroe. Not only (3) bedrooms, but also; panel-ray heat in every room; large living room and separate dining area; 42" automatic shutter attic fan; 30 gallon water heater and something highly unusual in a new home . . . new Venetian blinds throughout! Both of the bargains are selling for $500 less than the FHA appraised value, and you can pay $700 down, move in, and rent until you have accumulated your full down payment. How's that for a deal?

WE CAN'T TAKE IT

. . . with us and boy how we hate to give it up! I'm sure you'd feel the same if you had built a new home less than 5 months ago and then the "bottom falls out," you're transferred! Here's a glistening (2) bedroom home (both are 12'x14½') with a host of happy features! Such as: 30 gallon water heater . . . copper plumbing . . . 36" attic fan . . . aluminum tension screens . . . kitchen has vent-a-hood, washer plumbing . . . has natural woodwork throughout . . . small pantry and "to boot" it's on an 80'x170' lot. It's selling for the FHA appraised value, and only $1550 down makes the move. You'll find all of the above at 405 COLUMBIA AVE. in the college area. It's vacant and would be tickled to death to show you today!

PINCHED?

Have you 4 "young-uns" and only 2 bedrooms? Well . . . how about 4 "young-uns" and 4 bedrooms? I'll admit, you very seldom find a 4 bedroom home but we've the goods in a 7-room home, custom made for a large family. Here's a flawless home with these features: hardwood floors; large screened porch with aluminum screening; roomy living room with fireplace; separate dining room; it's on an 81'x150' lot just a half block from Mitchell Lane grammar school, and only $1800 down makes the move. It's located at 708 S. 5th in W. Monroe, and a look will please you.

WHAT'S THE CATCH?

Sounds too good to be true, I'll admit but $900 down is all it takes to make the move into the most modern 2-year-old, (3) bedroom home in Monroe on a spacious 120'x170' lot with these livable features: forced air heating; natural woodwork; large, well - proportioned kitchen with nice cabinet space, nice size pantry. All three bedrooms have nice closet space with lights; there's a screened back porch with washer plumbing, and it has a garage with a covered walk-way leading to house. It's for $500 less than the FHA appraised value with monthly payments as low as $61 a month, including taxes and insurance. This one's located at 4103 Lee Courts (just a block off Lee Ave.) Wanta' look?

PAINLESS PAYMENTS!

If you're trying to keep away from high monthly payments, but at the same time would like a home in a choice neighborhood . . . the Southside . . . here's your "problem solver" located at 103 GRAYLING LANE! Among the 1036 sq. feet of this one are: 2 comfortable bedrooms; roomy living room with real fireplace and separate dining room; 42" attic fan and floor furnace; new 30 gallon water heater; kitchen has outlet for electric stove . . . tile counter tops and splashboards, and on top of all this . . . it's selling for less than the FHA appraised value with monthly payments of approximately $46, including taxes and insurance. It'll be a pleasure to show you this bargain.

DON'T LOOK BACK

. . . A coupla' weeks from now and wish like the devil you had purchased this inviting 5-room home with the best of locations on the Northside at 1511 North 7th with its many refined features! Both bedrooms are unusually large with nice closets; the 13'x19' living room has fireplace and entrance to side screened porch; there's a separate dining room; sound construction throughout with oak floors and wood walls with excellent taste in wallpaper; gutters & downspouts, and a garage, PLUS a corner lot. It's unusually low - priced for a home of this caliber on the Northside, so call for appointment today!

PABLUM FED

"Cared for like a baby" so adequately describes 1309 COLLEGE AVE.! Here's a captivating 2 bedroom home that's had more than it's share of devoted attention. What's more there's an attic fan . . . built-in bookcases on each side of the fireplace in living room . . . side screened porch . . . and a separate garage with a roomy store room. The FHA says it's worth $10,000, so naturally it's a steal at only $9260 with only $926 down. You wanta see this baby?

FAR EAST (FHTNC) — Marine Privates first class Lee R. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linze Jones of Route 1, Box 515, Willie B. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Roberts, all of Rayville, La., and Marine Pfc. Jimmy E. Moak, son of Mrs. May Smith of West Monroe, La., landed on Iwo Jima with the 3rd Marine Division during the recent "Operation Flag Hoist."

Nine years and a month after the first landing, the Marines came through the surf and dug out a beachhead in the familiar volcanic ash, amid ruins of WW II. They powered their way inland, directing their attacks against an "enemy" force acted out realistically by the 2nd Battalion, 4th Marines who had spent a month digging in for the "battle."

Following successful completion of the mission - to seize, occupy and defend Iwo Jima - memorial services were held for the more than 4,000 Marines and sailors who gave their lives in 1945 to take the island for use as an American airbase.

MISS JANE WISE

Peggy Joyce Frantom Is Bride Of Charles Moseley

Pastel rainbow hues were featured in the gowns of feminine attendants at the wedding Saturday, March 27 of Miss Peggy Joyce Frantom to Charles Verlon Moseley. The identically styled gowns were fashioned of lace over taffeta, each in a different pastel shade. Half-opened parasols in matching shades surrounded by circlets of pom-pon mums complemented the pale yellow, lilac, apple green, aqua, and pink gowns.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Frantom of this city. Mr. Moseley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Benton Moseley of Oak Grove.

Vows Said At 7:30

The vows were pledged at 7:30 o'clock at the College Place Baptist Church with the Rev. T. Earl Ogg officiating.

Baskets filled with white gladioli and stock adorned the altar and pastel tapers burned in branched candelabra before a background of commodore fern. The bridal aisle was marked by glowing soft-colored cathedral candles and rainbow satin ribbons.

Music was presented by Mrs. C. L. Dillingham, organist, who accompanied Miss Delores Kern of DeRidder who sang, "I Love Thee" and "Through the Years."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an exquisite chapel-length gown of imported Chantilly lace over magnolia white bridal satin featuring a portrait neckline and empire bodice with a bouffant skirt dramatized by a back panel of tiered and pleated nylon tulle. Her elbow lace mitts extended to petal points. A Juliet cap of lace and seed pearls held her three-quarter length veil of silk illusion. Her bouquet was of valley lilies centered by an orchid, carried on a white prayer book.

Wedding Attendants

Maid of honor was Miss Maurine Linquist of Houston, Tex. Her strapless white lace waltz-length gown over lilac taffeta was fashioned with a fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt over tiers of nylon net. She wore a matching fichue with mitts and carried a parasol surrounded at the top by pastel mums and satin streamers. Her headdress was a matching bandeau.

Bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Schwartz of Lake Providence, who wore an aqua frock; Miss Alice O'Kelly who was wearing a pink gown and Miss Carolyn Wells of Wilmot, Ark., who wore an apple green model. Their gowns and bandeaus were styled identically to that of the honor attendant and their bouquets were half-opened parasols surrounded by mums in shades matching their frocks.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Rebecca Little and Miss Sharon Little of Little Rock, Ark., who wore yellow gowns fashioned from those worn by the bridesmaids.

Candlelighters were Miss Mary Moseley and Miss Myrna Moseley of Oak Grove. Their gowns were pink with lace bodices and full net over taffeta skirts. They wore wrist corsages of rainbow pom-pon chrysanthemums.

Ernest Glen Mangum was the bridegroom's best man. Groomsmen were Herbert Byargeon, Arnold Coon and Will Ainsworth.

Reception Held

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Frantom chose a pink antique taffeta gown with pink accessories complemented by a corsage of white iris and pink carnations. Mrs. Moseley, mother of the bridegroom, was becomingly attired in a blue antique taffeta gown with black accessories. Her flowers were blue dutch iris and pink carnation corsage.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. The long banquet table was overlaid with a linen cloth and centered with a tiered cupid column wedding cake. Silver candelabras and pastel umbrellas also decorated the table.

Miss Ruth Carter and Mrs. Kiley Mangum presided at the punch services. The wedding cake was served by Mrs. D. V. Loflin, Jr. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. James Griffin, Miss Pat Sanders, Mrs. Clyde Little of Little Rock, Ark., and Mrs. Fred McMath. Miss Betty Jo Roach kept the bride's register.

For a wedding trip on the Gulf Coast, the bride changed to a linen sheath dress with a matching jacket and black accessories. They are making their home at 347 West Parker Boulevard, Baton Rouge.

Miss Frantom is a graduate of Louisiana State University having received her degree in elementary education. She was a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

News From The Public Library

Last week when the staff of the Ouachita Parish Public Library settled down to regular routine after the excitement of the Louisiana Library Association conference, we found numerous new books which had arrived at the library and were waiting to be processed. The cataloger went to work with a will and many new books have reached the hands of the patrons. There were an unusual number of fiction titles available and today I want to tell you about some of them.

Mystery stories are always popular and there has been a shortage of this type of book in recent months. I am happy to state that this week we received seven different titles in this category. "Death in High Heels" by Christianna Brand has its setting in a fashionable London dressmaking establishment and will have a special appeal to women. "The Evil of Time" by Evelyn Berckman was a prize winner in the Red Badge series in 1954. It has its setting in an ancient German castle and is the kind of story which will chill one's blood. "Lawyers Don't Hang" by Glenn Barns is an exciting story of corruption in high places. "The Junior League Murders" by Claudia Canyon is a story of a suicide or murder which took place at the Junior League style show and dance in Benton, Wis. There seemed to be no reason for suicide and the mystery is who could have killed Sesaly Blaine. "Tears for the Bride" by Robert Martin is another Red Badge mystery story. It is an exciting story and one that keeps you guessing until the last minute.

"White Violets" by Edward Crandall is a story of strange passions and haunting terror, set in a fashionable old mansion at Newport. "Dangerous Angel" by Clarence Buddington Kelland is a historical mystery story, which has its setting in San Francisco in its most lavish era. It is the story of a dashing woman who played for high stakes and almost met disaster in the process.

Closely akin to the mystery story is a new type of story, which has achieved great popularity in recent months. That is the story of suspense. "The Cuckoo Line Affair" by Andre Garve is the story of a perfectly respectable man accused of two crimes. How his son and the son's fiancee proved his innocence makes exciting reading.

Another new novel of suspense is "Thieves' Hole" by David Howarth is the story of murder and intrigue in Northern Scotland, which a summer visitor found himself involved in, when he decided one afternoon to explore "Thieves' Hole," a mysterious cave in the sea cliffs. "The Business at Blanche Capel" is the exciting and fearful story of the disappearance of a deadly virus from an experimental laboratory and the efforts of the scientists to regain it. "The Caroline Affair" by C. H. Gibbs - Smith is the story of how Dr. Paul Harvard, special consultant to the British Intelligence service, tracks down a murderer and cures a patient. It is a remarkable story and is the first one by this author. He is a man to watch.

Historical novels, although not as popular as formerly, still appeal to many readers and among this week's offerings are three titles of this type, all of which appear to be interesting. "The Last Princess" by Charles O. Locke is a novel of the Incas. It is the story of Princess Tacara-mi. It is a tale of an era that ended when Pizarra came to the Andean mountain city of Cajamarca. Tacara-mi was a woman of compelling beauty and uninhibited warmth. She was also a person of conscience and sympathy. It is an exciting love story as well as the story of the destruction wrought by the conquests of Pizarro. It is a narrative told with excitement and conviction, to be read for the fascination of its setting and people but above all for entertainment. "Golden Amber Shore" by Kenneth Duncan also has its setting in the ancient kingdom of the Incas and it will be interesting to read and compare these two novels. Vaughan Wilkins never disappoints his large following, which has learned from experience to expect from him superior historical fictions. This story is laid in 18th century England. At the outset the author poses an intriguing problem, "just why did King George II and his queen so hate and despise their eldest son." "Fanfare for A Witch" is an imaginative reconstruction of history and it is also sparkling entertainment. One critic says, "Mr. Wilkins has given the story a setting so detailed and colorful that the reader can almost believe he is living in the seventeen nineties. It is a rousing, colorful tale and historically convincing.

Last of all we come to three novels with everyday modern settings. "Love is a Bridge" by Charles Bracelen Flood is a novel of decent people groping for a decent life. It is a story of people who have all the extras and want in Boston, New York and Long Island. This book is a Houghton Mifflin Fellowship award book and Charles Flood has the novelist's greatest gift - he makes his readers live his story. Henry and Susan and their families and friends are your friends and you are involved from first to last in the problems of their lives. "The Spare Room" by Nelia Gardner White is the heartwarming story of the life of the visiting nurse in a small New England town. "Ghost Town Bonanza" by Rosemary Taylor is a thoroughly delightful and engaging story of a young couple who found happiness, of all places, in a ghost town named Pearl.

Your library offers you limitless resources in reading. Are you using it for pleasure, information and personal improvement? If not, go at once to the branch nearest you and register for the library service.

MISS VIVANA FINKLEA, formerly of Monroe and now of Dallas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Finklea of Calhoun is the fiancee of Billy Harold Brunette of Dallas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Brunette of Naples, Texas. The couple will make their vows today at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Malone of Irving, Texas, sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom. After their honeymoon in Arkansas and Louisiana, the couple will make their home in Dallas.

American Music Is Study Of Music Guild

The Music Guild met in the lovely home of Mrs. Paul Newman Wednesday morning with Mrs. W. W. Bullock, Jr., Mrs. Robert Bliss, and Mrs. Doyle Hamilton assisting as hostesses. Tiny salad-filled pastry shells, nuts and dainty cookies were served with coffee to the guests.

After singing Louisiana Folk songs, Mrs. R. W. Cretney gave an interesting text entitled American Music. She brought out many interesting points about the history of American music, mentioning that the foundation of American music had its origin in Europe. Pioneer conditions of the country prevented much early growth in music and the arts during colonial times. The influence of different nationalities that settled various parts of the country caused scattered patterns to form. Music in the schools, camp meetings, and even compositions for commercial purposes gave rise to the folk song.

Stephen Foster was more typical early American than any other American composer and captured more of the natural sparkle that typifies our people. MacDowell attracted more attention in Europe than any other American composer. It has been noted that most of the American artists and composers have studied in Europe but still the American influence is felt in all their work. It is believed that music goes in cycles and that music is passing through the first stages of a new cycle, which, with sound reproduction and film reaching and influencing more people, may easily become the greatest musical period of all times.

Mrs. Doyle Hamilton accompanied Mrs. J. Norman Coon as she sang, "My Days Have Been so Wondrous Free" written by Francis Hopkinson and dedicated to George Washington. She also sang "Beautiful Dreamer" by Stephen Foster. Mrs. D. N. White sang "Go Way From My Window" by Jacob Niles and was accompanied by Mrs. Willys Hopkins. Mrs. C. L. Dillingham played a Gershwin Prelude. Those enjoying the occasion were: Mrs. D. N. White, Mrs. R. W. Cretney, Mrs. Leon Noland, Jr., Mrs. Robert Bliss, Mrs. W. W. Bullock, Jr., Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. C. L. Dillingham, Mrs. Doyle Hamilton, Mrs. Cecil Hill, Mrs. Willys Hopkins, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. Morris Miller, Mrs. Paul Newman, Mrs. J. M. Shipp, Mrs. W. E. Williams, Mrs. Robert Wroten.

Mr. C. A. Kimsey Will Speak To Delta Rho Delta

Mr. C. A. Kimsey of Oklahoma City will be the guest speaker of Sigma chapter, Delta Rho Delta Sorority, Monday evening at the Virginia Hotel Cameo Room. His topic will be "Passport to Happiness."

Being a graduate of human relations training and enjoying the privilege of being both mother and father in raising his son and daughter who made the Honor Society, Mr. Kimsey's talk will be based on actual experiences and the constant study of human relations and behavior. It is his sincere belief that no greater education and wisdom can be obtained by an adult than from living with, loving and understanding children. He says "Children are of God, loaned to us that we might better govern ourselves in accordance with the ways of God, and relive in and with our children a better way of life by reason of a better understanding."

Mr. Kimsey is worthy patron of the Iota chapter of Delta Rho Delta in Oklahoma City and served as master of ceremonies at the national convention of the sorority held last November. He organized and conducted the Toastmasters of the Air Program, and is past vice president of the Downtown Toastmasters Club which is affiliated with the International Toastmasters Clubs.

He is a deacon, first vice president of the Men's Organization, and chairman of the men's outings of First Christian Church in Oklahoma City. Also served as a member of the board of education.

Mr. Kimsey took up public speaking as a hobby in 1949, but due to his deep understanding of human relations, soon was in demand by the leading clubs of Oklahoma.

Spring Clean-Up Will Lessen Fire Dangers

Food for the Cares of the Day

Are you tired and restless? Do you worry? Are you unable to relax? Then you probably are poor milk drinker. Some people have developed the ability to completely relax by drinking three glasses of fresh milk every day. Milk contains riboflavin one of the vitamin B group that helps to calm your nerves and make your skin clear. In fact by drinking a quart of milk a day you can get 80 per cent of the riboflavin you need daily. Too many adults think milk is only for children. They see that each child gets his daily supply. Milk offers you the bargain in calcium. Calcium might be called the master mineral in the diet for all ages. Experimental evidence points up to the need for increasing calcium intake. We have stressed this need with children, but have failed to stress it for grown-ups. Both children and adults use calcium in the body to help coagulate blood and to assist the heart, nerves, and muscles to function right. It is almost impossible to get the calcium needed each day without getting some milk.

Women are said to be the poorest milk drinkers because they think it makes them fat. The teenage girls come second in being poor milk drinkers for the same reason. But if you compare the number of calories in a glass of milk with many other foods, you will overcome this erroneous idea. Remember for the best of health, everyone needs milk from the cradle to the grave.

Clean-Up Reduce Fire Hazards

Spring is one of the best times of the year to start a practical fire safety program. Most of the clean-up chores usually come under the heading of spring cleaning will lessen fire dangers. Among these chores are: Removal of old magazines, newspapers, old discarded clothing from attics, closets, barns and out buildings. This clean-up campaign should include the garage, barns and machine shops littered with oily rags and left-over empty paint buckets, etc. This clean - up campaign will add beauty to the outdoors which we enjoy so much in the spring and summer.

Program Planning

Club members are urged at your next meeting to plan what you want in the home demonstration program in 1955. Early? No — Our president's meeting will be May 4th at which time the program will be made. Base your program on your needs. Let's make 1955 program reach everyone in your community — not just the club members.

National Home Demonstration Week — May 2-8

Have you planned your activities for National Home Demonstration Week May 2-8? Each club is responsible for reaching the entire community.

The agent visited Bellingrath Garden April 5th. This garden is a beautiful site, but beauty here is maintained by constantly applying the science developed through research.

The power spray was busy and we were told that the azaleas were sprayed ever other day with diathane from the time color showed in the blossom until the last blossom was gone to control blossom blight. Strict sanitation is practiced with the azalea and camellias. The blossoms are removed as soon as they fall off as this will reduce fungi growth.

You are impressed with the beautiful trees. The branches of these immense oaks are allowed to grow in a natural manner. Some of them form a complete shelter over large areas of the garden. This garden is a memorial to the ones who developed it, Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Bellingrath.

See you next Sunday.

Start Church Setting Of Vows Of Miss Hendrix

The marriage of Miss Dora Ann Hendrix, sister of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Hendrix Jr. of Rayville and J. B. Weeks, grandson of Mrs. Lou Arrant of Start, was solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Start Baptist Church on April 6. The Reverend J. S. Deal officiated.

The altar was banked with ferns and baskets of white gladioli, and white chrysanthemums. Wrought iron candelabras with burning tapers completed the decorations. The pews were marked with white satin ribbons. Miss Mary Edna Deal furnished the nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Carolyn DuPont who sang, "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "The Lords Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, wore a ballerina length gown of white lace with very full skirt of net over satin. Her waist length veil of illussion fell from a coronet of pearls centered flowerets. Her only ornament was an old gold bracelet of sentimental value. She carried a colonial bouquet of white orchids and white violets.

Mrs. Melba Hendrix, sister-in-law of the bride, was her matron of honor. She wore an ice blue shantung ballerina length dress with full net overskirt, and a bandeau of white flowers in her hair. Her bouquet was a colonial nosegay of yellow Dutch iris and blue violets in a nest of yellow ribbons.

Gordon Davis served as best man and Jack Roark and Bennie Charles Robinson were ushers.

A reception followed immediately in the church parlors. Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums were used to decorate the reception rooms. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with roses and around the base of the reflector were pink roses. Miss Jewellene Adams and Miss Barabara Booth served punch and Miss Edna B. Davis, and Miss Patsy Ruth Miller also assisted in serving.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a blue spring suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple are at home in Rayville.

Mrs. John Lewis Makes Speech To Caddoan Club

The Caddoan Club met at the Oak Ridge Community Hall Monday evening April 5th, with Mrs. R. E. Barham, Jr., and Mrs. W. R. Kennedy as hostesses.

Mrs. John Lewis of Monroe was the featured speaker of the evening. From tables laden with materials of flowers foliage, and some unclassified items, Mrs. Lewis selected the illustrations for steps in her talk on Flower Arrangement in the home. The finished products, designed for use in various areas of the house, showed the unity of expression that might be obtained with a little 'know how'.

Roll call was answered with the name of a flower which would lend itself to easy arrangement.

Mrs. W. P. Smith, president, named as members of the program committee for the new club year, Mrs. W. A. Shaw, Mrs. James Poole and Mrs. W. M. Rolfe.

Mrs. Jack Carey had on display the club press book which had received a blue ribbon at the recent Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs convention in Shreveport. Mrs. Rolfe reported on the Saturday morning program of the convention which was presented by state officials under the title "America's Best Buy". Mrs. W. M. Nolan showed the program and favors from the state meeting. Reports of the official delegates, Mrs. Barham and Mrs. W. R. Kennedy, were reserved for the May Meeting of the club.

Satisfaction was expressed over the outcome of the Style Show and variety program presented by the Caddoans on the night of March twenty-third. Contributions were made to the Restoration of Independence Hall project and local enterprises.

Refreshments provided the choice of coffee or Coca-Cola with delicious cake. New members welcomed into the organization were Mrs. H. A. Pipes, Jr., and Mrs. J. E. Files. Other members present were: Mrs. W. P. Smith, Mrs. W. M. Rolfe, Mrs. G. L. Greene, Mrs. John Day, Mrs. W. A. Shaw, Mrs. Jack Carey, Mrs. W. M. Nolan, Mrs. R. M. Kennedy, and Mrs. J. M. Poole. Guests were Mrs. Pat Wade, Mrs. Gerald Thompson, Miss Kate Henry and Mrs. John Lewis of Monroe.

Dessert for Sunday dinner: balls of chocolate ice cream rolled in chopped nuts and garnished with a spoonful of whipped cream and a cherry.

District Flower Show Planned By Garden Club

Flower lovers are anticipating an interesting event on April 24th when the Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities invited the Fifth District Garden Clubs in a Flower Show.

The theme is "Lovely Louisiana" and a most interesting schedule covers all the things Louisianans hold dear, the flowers, trees and birds — even the industries will be represented.

Arrangements and horticulture specimens will be exhibited by all the federated garden clubs in the district.

Mrs. D. B. Gee, president of the club announces that the following committees are busily engaged in completing the plans for the show: general chairman, Mrs. V. S. Garnett; vice chairman, Mrs. John P. Lewis; schedule, Mrs. V. S. Garnett; staging chairman, Mrs. C. C. Lucky; (A) arranging, Mrs. Warren Breard; (B) Mrs. Fred Hayton, Sr.; entries chairman, Mrs. M. W. Montgomery; (A) arrangements, Mrs. Julius Fink; (B) horticultural, Mrs. Henson Coon.

Classification chairman, Mrs. R. M. Kettenring; (A) arrangement division, Mrs. Charles Chisholm; (B) horticultural division, Mrs. C. T. Johnson; educational chairman, Mrs. J. W. Golson; judges chairman, Mrs. W. C. Feazel; hospitality chairman, Mrs. K. R. Young; publicity chairman, Mrs. Norman Jardine; awards, Mrs. Oscar Johnson; junior exhibits, Mrs. Horace Josey; commercial chairman, Mrs. Wesley Walters; clerks, Mrs. C. C. Lucky and Mrs. W. E. Young.

Girl Scout News

There's a lot of interest, we're glad to report, in the established camp the local Scouts are planning for two weeks in August. At the camp rally Friday night the girls saw a movie of Wawbansee, the Shreveport camp which the girls will use from August 15-29.

Several Monroe Scouts have attended Wawbansee—Betty Hemphill, Cheryl Fink, Charlotte Ford, Amy Hood, Louise Lester, Charlotte Pankey, Noel Standly, to name a few. Last year the Shreveport girls completely filled the camp, as they will probably do from now on. Anyway, the above-named girls will tell you what a good time they had. Some of them, we are sure, are looking forward to going back this summer when our own Council is operating the camp.

A check with the office reveals that Brenda Cobb and Linda Bird, of Troop 43 are the first to register for the camp. Capacity is 60 girls, so it would be a good idea to register soon.

A lot of people are going to be interested in the trip to Wawbansee planned for April 24. Busses have been secured and enough leaders and permission blanks have already started coming into the office. Again, it's important that the blanks be returned to the office well in advance of the date. The leaders say they would hate to disappoint anyone, but no girl may go unless her bus fare is paid at the office and her permission blank turned in by Friday, April 23. No money will be accepted at the bus at leaving time on that Saturday.

Never saw so many cookie awards as were given out at the rally this year. Brownies who qualified for the '54 Club are: Betty Jean Hakim, Patricia Dennis, Carol Crotwell, Patricia Ann Chambliss, Claudia Ann Carter, Janet Moses, Beth Thurber, Patsy O'Brien, Donna Bowers, Donnie Inzina, Saundra Glenn, Lynda Atkinson, Grace Marie Hodge, Alice Jo Anzalone, Deanna Furlow, Diana Jordan, Sandra Poole, Sharon Henderson, Dianne Bell, Linda Skipper, Frances Norman, Helen Carol Groves, Beverly Brown, Wanda Green, Brenda Watts, Leslie Person, Helen Martin, Lynn Priou, Claudia Roberts, Lynette Purvis, Stella Bolton, Nadine Barrett, Rosary LeMoine, Sandra Graff, Margaret Jones, Dais Pairish, Sandra Shutting, Janet Noland, Pat Porter, Polly Parish, Beverly Blackmon, Carol Koontz, Ann McElroy, Deborah Ann Ray, Doris Solomon, Susan Sperry, Suzanne Cason, Sally Barham, Ann Hemphill, Judy Nowell, Carolyn Thompson, Sissie Loftin, Latina Harris, Mary Frances Howard, Pamela Grower, India Dowdle, Linda Blair, Sharon Hayes, Sandra Bailey and Frances Adams.

The Intermediate list is even longer, so we'll save it for next week.

Pine Wood is beautiful at this time with the buckeye in bloom and the trees many shades of green. Troop 21 may like to know that the dogwood they planted in February is budding.

Eight girls of Troop 10 with Mrs. A. W. Lewis and Mrs. A. C. Lea spend Friday and Saturday nights there last week. These girls are old-time campers who always stay two nights. They worked on badge requirements, did all their cooking out of doors, enjoyed an unusually long stay on the sandy river bank and enjoyed campfires at night. For campfire the girls had paper bag dramatics, always a favorite, and games that girls had worked out as part of the Games Badge.

Everybody in the troop didn't get to go, but we are sure that those who did had a wonderful time. Mary Lou Clay, Sandra Lea, Betty Slaughter, Patty Prophit, Ruth Johnson, Lynne Lewsi, Frances Yeldell and Lucy Fletcher are the girls.

Troop 43 was at camp Friday night for its first overnight. Bet those 20 girls had a whale of a good time!

If, regardless of what others say to the contrary, you dislike your freckles, ask your druggist to prepare you a bleach. Repeated applications should fade the annoying dots.

Lambda Chapter D. K. G. Initiate In Tallulah

TALLULAH — Initiation of two active members and one honorary member was the feature of a meeting of Lambda chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma society held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Hester here Saturday afternoon. Those initiated in the beautiful and impressive ceremony were Mrs. Gladys Harris Jones of Mangham and Mrs. Melissa Chapman McKay of Archibald as active members and Mrs. Helen Spann Murphy of Tallulah as honorary member.

The business session followed the installation with the chapter president, Mrs. Myrtis Wyly of Lake Providence, presiding. Routine matters were transacted including the distribution of report blanks to committee chairmen to cover a two-year period.

Mrs. Pearl Marcum, of Lake Providence and Mrs. Lellah Lyle of Rayville gave reports of the state Delta Kappa Gamma convention recently held in Monroe. A biography written by Mrs. Murphy, a pioneer teacher of Madison Parish and new honorary member of the society was read, and enjoyed by the group.

The following officers who will serve for the next two years were installed by the outgoing officers. They were Mrs. Mabel Nash, Mangham, president; Mrs. Ruth Read, Tallulah, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Whatley, Rayville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Pearl Marcum, Lake Providence, recording secretary; Miss Velma Colvin, treasurer; Mrs. Margaret Newman, Lake Providence, parliamentarian.

An enjoyable social period concluded the meeting when Tallulah members of the chapter served refreshments. Those in attendance were Mrs. Pearl Floyd and Mrs. Bertha Rundell, Delhi; Mrs. Myrtis Wyly, Mrs. Ethel W. Belser, Mrs. Pearl Marcum, Lake Providence; Mrs. Mabel Nash, Mrs. Gladys Jones, Mrs. Mary Underwood, Mrs. Christine McConnell, of Mangham; Mrs. Earline Sartor, Alto; Mrs. Melissa McKay, Archibald; Mrs. Nola Wilson, Mrs. Elizabeth Whatley, Mrs. Lellah Lyle, Miss Ola Cooper, Mrs. Esther McConnell of Rayville; Mrs. Marie Hester, Mrs. Era Medlin, Mrs. Helen Y. SUEDE SAVER

Stubborn spots on suede shoes or bags often disappear after they are lightly rubbed with an emery board and then steamed over a boiling kettle.

Here's pork chop know-how. Center-cut chops are cut from the center of the loin; they are lean and regular in shape. End chops are cut from either end of the loin; they are fine in flavor and not so expensive as center-cut chops.

Presbyterians Plan For Special Services Here

Holy Week commencing with Palm Sunday, today, through Easter Sunday, April 18, will be observed by the First Presbyterian Church with special services to be held in its sanctuary. The minister, the Rev. W. H. McFadden, will deliver the sermons all of which are based on the general theme "Christian Victory." The evening services, which will be at 7:30 p.m., will be based on great religious paintings which portray the last week of Christ's life here on earth. These paintings will be shown in their original colors by the use of Kodachrome slides. The topic of the sermons and the pictures to be used are as follows:

Palm Sunday, April 11:

11:00 a.m., "When Jesus is Lord."

5:00 p.m., Infant Baptism Service.

7:30 p.m., "Christ's Victory Over Mankind." (Famous painting, "Triumphal Entry," by Plockhorst.)

Wednesday, April 14:

7:30 p.m., "Christ's Victory Over Himself." (Famous painting, "Jesus in Gethsemane," by Hofmann)

Thursday, April 15:

7:30 p.m., "Christ's Victory Over the Church." (Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated.)

(Famous painting, "The Last Supper," by Leonardo da Vinci.)

Friday, April 16:

7:30 p.m., "Christ's Victory Over the Cross." (Famous painting, "Christ On the Cross," by Rubens.)

Easter Sunday, April 18:

8:30 a.m., "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."

11:00 a.m., "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." (Two identical worship services.)

7:30 p.m., "Christ's Victory Over Death." (Famous painting, "Peter and John Running to the Tomb," by Burnand.)

Beginning on Easter Sunday, two morning services will be held at which the the same sermon will be delivered, 8:30 and 11:00 a.m. There will be no evening services after Easter Sunday. This schedule will continue until early fall. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend any or all of these services.

Oak Ridge Church Gets New Pews

Services will be held in the Oak Ridge Methodist Church on Palm Sunday with the pastor, James Poole, delivering the message. The congregation has held worship services in the education building for the past six months while the church has undergone a complete renovation.

The arrival of the new pews during the week made possible this initial service a week prior to Easter, the expected date.

Special music has been prepared for the occasion.

Hold Week Will Be Observed

The First Methodist Church of West Monroe will hold Holy Week services each night April 11-16 at 7:30 p. m.

The themes will be as follows: Monday, "Cleansing the Temple"; Tuesday, "Teaching in the Temple"; Wednesday "Withdrawal for Preparation" Thursday, "Holy Communion"; Friday, "The Cross."

Palm Sunday Is Observed Here In Methodist Church

Memorial Methodists will gather today to observe Palm Sunday with several traditional ceremonies connected with that day planned. The combined choirs will sing "The "The Palms," by Jean Baptise Faure. The pastor will conduct a service of infant baptism. The church will be decorated with evergreen and palms.

The staff chaplain of 14th air force headquarters, Robins Air Froce Base, Ga., Lt. Colonel Herbert W. Wicher, will be the preacher for the hour. Chaplain Wicher is a Presbyterian whose native state is California, although much of his civilian ministry has been spent in New Hampshire.

During World War II Chaplain Wicher was chaplain of the famous 45th division of the infantry and participated in actions in North Africa, Anzio, Southern France, and Germany. He became an air force chaplain when the new U. S. air force was constituted several years ago, and since that time has been at various posts in the United States, including Lackland, Texas.

The evening service will be conducted by the pastor, with the youth choir, under the direction of Mrs. Z. C. Ambrose, singing.

Pre-Easter observances will also include special services each evening of the week through Friday with the pastor preaching. There will be a communion service on holy Thursday.

Easter Music To Peal Forth; Trotter Soloist

Ben Trotter of Ridgeland, Mississippi, will be baritone soloist in the annual presentation of Easter music by the Chancel Choir of the First Baptist Church of West Monroe this Sunday evening, April 11, at 7:30. The work to be given this year is "My Heart Is Glad" by David Thornton.

Mr. Trotter is a graduate of the University of Alabama and holds a master of music education degree from Columbia University in New York City. He formerly served as minister of music of Parkway Baptist Church of Jackson, Miss., and plans to continue his study in the church music field this summer at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Ft. Worth, Tex. Mr. Trotter is an accomplished soloist, and his rendition of the baritone solos of "My Heart Is Glad" is eagerly awaited.

Other soloists are Miss Elaine Canady, soprano; Miss Janet Cash, contralto; Miss Terri Lee Fields, contralto; and Mr. Elvis Stout, tenor.

"My Heart is Glad" is a composition for the Easter season written by a contemporary composer. It is written in a somewhat modern harmonic style and contains many beautiful and moving melodies. It is hoped that its rendition by the chancel choir will be a deep spiritual experience for all present.

BEN TROTTER

Rev. Clyde Averett To Deliver Sermon

Rev. Clyde Averett will speak at the morning service at the Edgewood Baptist Church in the absence of the pastor, Rev. O. P. Bazer, who is in Greenville, Miss. preaching in a revival meeting.

Unveil Unique Baptistry In Jena Church

JENA, La. (Special)—J. Phil Preddy, New Orleans muralist, will arrive in Jena Saturday, April 10, for the purpose of painting a room-size scene of the traditional site on the River Jordan in the Holy Land where Jesus was baptised.

The painting will be for the baptistry of the Fellowship Baptist Church which has recently remodeled its auditorium and installed a baptistry in the church building.

Mr. Preddy's reproduction of the scene will be from a photograph of the site which was taken in 1934 by Dr. A. S. Newman of Alexandria, executive secretary of the Louisiana Baptist Brotherhood, during a summer - long tour of Palestine, Egypt, and other lands associated with the story of Christ.

A muralist of wide acclaim, Mr. Preddy will remain over Sunday for the morning service at Fellowship Baptist Church for the unveiling of the baptistry scene and to give a lecture on the historical significance and background of the painting.

THE HOME SHIFT—

Iris Growers Reap Beauty Of Harvest

Every week I receive cards and letters from friends in surrounding parishes telling me they visited our cities on the preceding Sunday. They are lavish in their praise of the gardens. To get to some of these lovely gardens the visitors pass through the business section. Saturday night is a busy time in the stores, but won't you remember to leave the streets and alleys clear of boxes and trash so our friends will leave our cities with a nice memory?

GARDEN RAMBLINS

It's time to divide your iris and reset them — just as they quit blooming. Our department doesn't say to cut the tops in a fan shape, but I've found from experience that its best to do that. You plant bearded iris very shallow. If you leave the tops on, they're top-heavy and fall over when the wind or rains come. You can use 5-10-5 for these iris if you'll work it in the soil several weeks before you're ready to transplant and wet it in well. Most of the iris growers in this area use bone meal as they plant each bulb. This gives fine results, using a handful worked in the soil for each plant.

Get your annual seed planted and your chrysanthemums and purple sage divided and reset in a bed that has been worked and fertilized with 5-10-5 several weeks before.

Paper plants are coming up now. If you have a friend who has extra ones, ask for them. You'll enjoy growing this perennial in your yard. Their foliage is large and they give a tropical effect. If the fall frosts are late you'll have the exotic tall white blossom.

Don't fail to see the iris in these gardens: Mrs. Frank Williams, 3800 Lee Avenue, Monroe; Mrs. J. C. Leath, 706 South Second, Monroe; Mrs. W. R. Gales, 404 Linderman, West Monroe.

The climbing roses at the George Wright home, 1005 South Grand are very beautiful now. The red ones seems to drape just right over the white awning. There are some lovely yards down Grayling Lane, (turn to right off South Grand) and some unusually large fringe trees.

On my way to work I detoured down McGuire Avenue to 607, the Barnette home. I thought surely I'd reached fairyland. The iris, roses and just everything make a rainbow of color. The house is on the corner. Be sure to turn and see the back where most of the iris are planted.

HONORS FOR THE TWIN CITIES

Two Monroe housewives walked off with honors at the State flower show — Carrie McKenzie won a blue ribbon on the arrangement "Father's Day Off." Mildred Lucky took a red ribbon on "President Thomas Jefferson." If you've ever been to one of these shows you know there's stiff competition and a ribbon is really a token of unusual ability.

TOO BAD!!

The Patio Garden Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored the planting of the Monroe approach to the new bridge. Already three plants have been "taken." Kind of discouraging, isn't it?

CANDY DANDY

Just in case you haven't heard the news, the Easter Parade is going to feature candy - stripe shirts with a harmonizing tie and handkerchief for men. They're really something. It's blue - and - white stripe for blue suits—brown and white for brown suits — and gray is so adaptable it would look well with red - and - white, blue-and-white, or green - and - white. I saw a travelogue the other night that showed some native women walking five paces behind their husbands — while the men strutted out in front in the most dazzling costumes you ever saw! The commentator said that only the men on this island ever dress up in fine feathers. If these pretty-as-a-picture styles for men keep on, you and I will be bringing up the rear in the Easter Parade as the men go swinging ahead.

DATES AND DOINS

The flower arrangers will be happy over this news: The Monroe Garden Club is bringing Mrs. David G. MacMillon to Monroe Monday, April 12 for a lecture demonstration and to hold a clinic. The place is the auditorium at North Louisiana State College. The lecture demonstration will be in the morning from 10:00 to 12:00 o'clock the clinic in the afternoon from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock. Both are open to the public for a small fee. The clinic promises to be most practical because each person is asked to bring her own containers, holders and flowers. In that way you'll learn to arrange the blossoms you grow, and not some flowers you'll never use in your arrangements.

Tune in to KNOE-TV, tomorrow, Monday, April 12 at 3:00 p.m. for a real treat. Mrs. Jenny O'Kelly Mitchell will give you the history of Layton Castle and the story of her own ancestral home, including the witches ball. Also, Miss Jenny will tell you when you'll have the pleasure of touring these beautiful old homes.

You're also invited to tune in at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday for my show. We'll visit together in the garden and do some of those April jobs that should be finished this month.

See you again next Sunday.

"SOUSUNS" are among the many varieties of bearded Iris to be seen in the Gates Garden on Linderman St. in West Monroe. The garden also has many varieties of native iris and day lilies.

Iris In Bloom In Gates Garden

One of the largest collections of tall bearded iris in Louisiana can be seen in the garden of Mrs. W. R. Gates at 404 Linderman in West Monroe.

A crescent shaped bed, which contains many iris from the American Iris Society's chosen best is the pride of the Gates garden. Among the iris contained in this bed are gorgeous new pinks which are Cloud Cap, Pink Sensation, Pink Formal, Pink Plume, Paradise Pink, Pastella, Fantasy, Cherie and Pink Cameo. Also in this bed are the world famous New Zealand iris, Summit, a deep yellow and snow white, Mystic Melody, a deep yellow and cream and Inspiration, truly an artist's iris a huge one in a dark rose madder shade.

Cultivating and hybridizing iris is a hobby that fascinates people from every walk of life. The A. I. S. has a membership of over 5,000 and any number of these will drive hundreds of miles to see a new color break in a friend's iris seedlings.

Iris should be divided soon after blooming so they can grow into generous clumps for a mass display of blooms the next spring.

A good iris fertilize formula is five parts bone meal, five parts superphosphate, five parts agricultural lime and two parts Vigero. In preparing a new bed apply two cups of this mix in an area 10 feet long by 10 feet wide.

Garden Center Notes

Hilites Of Trip Unfold

Monroe in all its spring glory seems like a fairy-land after a 2000-mile trip in which we had the unique experience of seeing spring in reverse. Here are a few highlights—Indiana, temperature in the thirties, only a few brave crocus flaunting their bright colors. Snow flurries in St. Louis and bare deciduous forests all the way west to Springfield, Mo. where spring is just starting with the early daffodils. The garden clubs of Monett, Mo. in cooperation with the State Highway Department have beautified an area at the edge of town which is called "Nature's Glen". The State Highway office is located in this park. The drive from Fayetteville, Ark. to Fort Smith is one of great beauty and this week-end will begin the dogwood season.

This scenic drive through the Boston Mountains is mentioned, in "The Gardener's Travel Book" by E. I. Farrington. This book covers all of the United States and is a wonderful traveling companion for the Gardener.

Had a wonderful tour through the gardens in Fort Smith, Ark. Their spring is just a month behind Monroe. Daffodils, hyacinths, red-bud and azaleas all in bloom. Mrs. Troy McNeill, president of the Twin City Council of Garden Clubs (Van Buren and Fort Smith) was most gracious and invites all travelers from Louisiana to the Van Buren Garden Club Tour of Homes on May 6th. The theme of this show is "Long, Long Ago".

The Van Buren Garden Club has adopted this theme for their club year and are studying the homes, gardens, furnishing and arrangements of a by-gone era. Telephone Mrs. John Jeryo, Van Buren 381 for information. Hours 2:30 to 9 p.m. Starting this week also is the Dogwood Caravan at Sallisaw, Okla., (just across the river from Fort Smith.) This is a conducted tour. Contact the Chamber of Commerce in Sallisaw.

Many fine conservation practices in evidence throughout the country, terraced fields, farm ponds, reforestration. The two very obvious things that deface our beautiful land are—"Litterbugging" along our highways and evidence of forest fires, which our foresters tell us are mostly from carelessness and fire-bugs. Lets keep America green and beautiful.

Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr. and Mrs. C. E. McKenzie judged our lovely flower in the center this week. Beautiful spring arrangements were made by the Bayou Garden Club of Tallulah.

First place went to Mrs. Elmer Neill, Jr. for a lovely triangular arrangement in a low container.

Mrs. McNeill combined purple dutch iris and ranunculas and calendulas shading from gold to orange.

Second place award to Mrs. Jack Folk for a lovely design using buds and blooms of white ranunculus with pansies as a focal point. Mrs. Collins Thomas was awarded third place for a line mass design of white iris in a low black container.

All the horticulture was in the Blue ribbon class. Ribbons awarded as follows: Mrs. Collins Thomas for yellow native iris, also a ribbon for white dutch iris. Mrs. Jack Folk for yellow bearded iris, variety Happy Day.

This coming week our friends the florists will fill the garden center with Eastertime arrangements. Be sure to come in and see this lovely display.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

Shrubs, Perennials Brighten Gardens

If you have room for it, you can add a great many different small shrubs and large perennials to your shrub borders and keep the flowering shrubs and perennials blooming throughout the whole season. This will mean adding from five to ten feet more to the thickness of your shrub borders and plantings of course. You may not need all the lawn you have, and, in this case, it will lighten the burden of grass cutting and maintenance. If you have only a narrow space for grass to begin with, you will not be able to add much to the shrub border without crowding the lawn, but still there are probably some small shrubs and large perennials that can be crowded against the taller shrubs to give you extra flowers.

Many a long row of tall kinds of spirea could be made into a beautiful mixed planting by adding smaller shrubs like dwarf pomegranate, (this is as tall as some spireas, but it is narrower and blooms in the summer) blue spirea, the summer flowering pink spireas, spirea Anthony Waterer, the early spring flowering almond in white or pink colors Deutsia gracilis "dwarf" flowering quinces, florabunda roses, shrubby hypericums, rosa rugosa, damask roses, showy jasminum or low azaleas like azalea macrantha. Of course, you might have to use the azaleas in a sort of specially prepared acid-soil bed together, but this is not difficult to prepare. If your original tall shrubs in front of which you are going to plant these lower things is really a long row of one kind, you can remove several of the plants in the row after the additional shrubs are growing and add variety to the back by planting some different kinds of larger shrubs back there. Still more variety can be introduced to break up the monotony by planting a few small trees, here and there, in the back. Dogwood, redbud, crape myrtle, service berry or roan tree and golden - rain tree.

There are some very large plants which grow from bulbs and some large perennials which can be tucked in here and there amongst the smaller shrubs towards the front of shrub plantings. These plants will give you a lot of bloom throughout the growing season. The shrub foliage provides a rich foliage background which will make them show up when in bloom like you never saw them before. The many kinds of crinums, those huge bulbs which have flowers like lilies and long leaves often three feet long, look very handsome among the shrubs. Even when there are none of the crinum lilies in flower, the big clumps of foliage are interesting.

1. DO BABIES LEARN TO SMILE BY IMITATION? YES ☐ NO ☐
2. DO GENIUSES HAVE HIGHER THAN AVERAGE MORALS? YES ☐ NO ☐
3. DOES YOUR THUMB REVEAL YOUR PERSONALITY AND WILL POWER? YES ☐ NO ☐
4-10

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Probably not. One psychologist studied two babies daily from birth to seven months. They were cared for like other babies, except that no one smiled or played with them, and they had no toys. Yet, they smiled and laughed at their poker-faced nurses at the same age that babies usually do.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. Geniuses have been prophets and moral leaders of mankind. The late F. A. Woods showed that throughout a 1,000 year period, nearly all the truly great European rulers were rated as noble characters, even by enemy historians. Over 300 studies have shown that average and slow children cheat and lie more in school than brilliant children. Of course, there are exceptions.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. A London psychologist maintains that the hand, particularly the thumb, reveals a person's nature. However, Fordham psychologists studied 100 men college students, ages 18 to 28, and could find absolutely no relationship between the thumb and will power or any other measureable traits of personality.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Feet Out For Summer; Have Yours In Shape

With summer only a hop, skip and jump away, it is time to give a little special thought to our feet. These will soon leave their hibernation spot in winter shoes to appear in wide open models and run barefooted along the beach or river bank.

It is not too soon to begin massaging your underpinnings with cream or lotion, if you have neglected to do so during the past few months. The skin about the toenails is likely to become rough during the cold season. Massage cuticle oil or cream into this area and you will notice an improvement within a week.

If you are looking your figure over with swim suits and play clothes in mind, do not forget your poor neglected feet. You may suddenly discover that your waistline is perfect but your feet are not in condition for anything more strenuous than a game of Canasta.

Added Strain

Foot specialists tell us that the summer months bring a flood of women patients to their offices. They feel that one of the main reasons for this is the fact that the feet are suddenly subjected to strains of all sorts.

Without warning they are dressed up in flimsy summer shoes which give little support. This type shoe is also apt to fit poorly. Even though play shoes are fun to wear, you should also have a sensible shoe wardrobe for summer.

Besides your play shoes you need a pair of low heeled oxfords with supple leather tops and flexible leather soles for long walks or tramps in the woods. These should have a wide heel and give the toes plenty of room. You also need a pair of spectator shoes in soft leather with a medium heel, and of course, high heels for special occasions. Today there is great variety in spring and summer models and colors; shoes which are comfortable and attractive.

Stretch Muscles

Many women wear high heels virtually all year except in the summer when they suddenly adopt flat heeled shoes. When you wear high heels habitually, the muscles in your calf shorten and a sudden change to low heels can actually be painful. You would be very wise to begin stretching your back leg muscles now.

In order to do this, alternate between high and low heels. Wear low heels for at least a short time each day. Also do the following exercise: Lie on the floor on your back. Raise your left leg up as far as comfortable. Keep your knee stiff and pull your toes back toward your head. Lower your leg to the floor. Do the same thing with your right leg and continue, alternating left and right. Do not pull the toes back too suddenly.

If you would like to have my exercises for the feet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 14, "Take Care of Your Feet."

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: We have been married for almost seven years and have two children. My husband's mother has upset and irritated me all through the years with her accusations and insults; she twists whatever I do or say to make it look as if I offended her. If we visit her, she implies we are imposing on her; if we do not, we're neglecting her. Within the last two years she has threatened three times to commit suicide. She causes trouble among her other children also, but for some reason I "offend" her more than anyone else. She refuses to baby-sit for her grandchildren. My husband's answer, when I complain, is that "she is my mother." Please answer soon. — Katie D.

What do you expect your husband to say? Or do? Sometimes I think some of you wives ask for no more in life than to hear your husbands agree with your own thinking that their mothers are old witches. You forget that your husband knew and loved his mother long before he met you; that he has a sense of obligation toward her. You hurt yourself when you talk against her or try to cause trouble between her and your husband . . . no matter how right you are about her. Get smart and do what you can to get along with her. Stay away from her as much as you can and let your husband handle her. From what you tell me your husband's mother is a disturbed person. Try to regard her in that light and you might resent her attitude less.

PS — Why should she baby-sit? She has reared her family; your children are your affair.

Dear Ann Landers: My father died before I was born. I was raised by my stepfather whom I loved and looked upon as my true father. About six years ago my mother divorced him and is now engaged to another man. He is nice, but could never take my "father's" place in my heart.

In a few months I am going to be married and want my "father" to give me away during the ceremony. He and I both know that it will cause an argument between mother and me and mother and her fiance. What do you think I should do?—J. H. G.

It's your wedding and, since you look upon your stepfather as your real father, he is the one to give you away in marriage. His quarrel with your mother is not your quarrel. And you most certainly do not have to accept your mother's latest flame as your escort up the aisle. She can reserve that "honor" for her own march.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for 30 years. He has always been faithful to me, turned over his paychecks, compliments me and is easy to live with for five days a week. But on his two days off work he spends one drinking himself blind and the other day sleeping it off.

As bad as he is now, he used to be worse, but I don't know what to do about him. Also, would you call him an alcoholic?—Loyal Wife

What difference does it make how you diagnose the degree of your husband's drinking? He still drinks. After sticking it out with your husband for 30 years I can't see any point in doing anything about his drinking habits now . . . particularly since he is drinking less.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

"New Look" In Hollywood

By GEORGE BAGNALL
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, April 10 —Television has forced a "new look" upon Hollywood. Some people in the film-making hamlet will tell you it's a diabolical monster, intent upon wrecking the good old motion picture industry. And others will inform you, with equal insistence, that television is a kindly doctor who has helped remedy many of Hollywood's ailments, especially malnutrition. It all depends where you sit, I guess.

The truth, as it often is, lies somewhere between extremes. Having been identified with both TV and motion pictures, I'm sort of torn between two passions. But one thing can be said without much fear of contradiction. Without the stimulus provided by TV, Hollywood would be in the "ghost town" category — a sad and inactive place.

When radio first reared its "ugly" head some years back, the prophets of doom vociferously wailed that motion pictures were in great jeopardy, perhaps facing extinction. But nothing like that happened, of course. The film producers met the new challenge and survived the threatened debacle.

Now we hear that TV is committing homicide as far as the movies are concerned. But I venture the opinion that the new competition will have the effect of compelling movie makers to turn out better entertainment or lose larger segments of their audiences to the nation's television screens. Competition generally is a healthy thing which brings out the best qualities in the old champ as well as the new contender.

One thing is certain. Television is fulfilling a promise which sometimes has been disregarded by the film producers. I refer to entertainment for the entire family—entertainment which serves a wide range of wholesome tastes and appetites. And certainly there is a tremendous demand for subjects in this area in all phases of the entertainment industry.

For example, my own company is engaged in distributing films especially made for television purposes as well as motion pictures. Because of high production costs in the movie field, it has been difficult for producers to make features aimed principally at juveniles, except in the instances of cartoons, which, incidentally, usually have a wide adult appeal, too. But in the TV business, where subjects run 15 minutes and half an hour generally, one can afford to make productions slanted for special audiences like the kiddies, as well as subjects which provide adult fare.

Well-balanced programs are essential in both television and movies. Our company provides a wide variety of subjects, ranging from our "Crusader Rabbit" cartoon series to such topics as "Front Page Detective," starring Edmund Lowe, and "Paradise Island," musicals with tropical backgrounds. A distributor such as ourselves must deliver entertainment for all members of the viewing audience —or suffer the awful consequences.

One reason for the staggering blow to the movies is the easy accessibility of television. That, of course, means that all you have to do is tune in your set and there, in the comfort of your home, enjoy some of the finest entertainment ever devised. When you go to the movies, of course this involves you in considerable effort and expense, including popcorn and parking. But TV is for free, as the saying goes.

If television is to continue to hold the constant attention of its vast audience, it must obviously continually improve its product. This is a constructive demand which will benefit the producers, distributors and viewers alike. Audiences are likely to slip away, to some degree, unless television entertainment always continues to strive for higher levels of quality. I'm sure that TV will meet this challenge with initiative and talent.

Television can be proud of one splendid achievement. It has done more than any other device, in my opinion, to keep the family together. The cracks in the family circle which showed themselves a decade ago are now being cemented by this family-style entertainment. And certainly it is important to our American way of life to have the family think together and play together.

Television will develop many great new personalities, eventually to adorn motion pictures and thus serve a truly constructive purpose in discovering new talent. And, by the same token, TV is bound to bring to light gifted people in the various phases of the production and technical fields.

All transitions are painful in character. This is especially true, I believe, in the impact of television upon motion pictures. I feel that in the final analysis, both fields will emerge healthy and thrive despite the competition afforded by the other.

'Rose Marie' Opens Today At Joy Theatre In Rayville

The week's big screen attraction at the Joy Theatre in Rayville is "Rose Marie," M-G-M's first CinemaScope musical, starring Ann Blyth, Howard Keel, Fernando Lamas, Bert Lahr and Marjorie Main.

Its triangular romance of a French-Canadian girl of the woods, a fur trapper and a Canadian mountie lends itself brilliantly to the new CinemaScope medium.

Ann Blyth plays the title role as the untamed girl of the woods who is adopted by Sgt. Mike Malong (Howard Keel) and who is delighted with her outdoor life as a mountie "recruit" before she submits to being transformed from an irrepressible tomboy to a lady. Her happiness at falling in love with the adventurous trapper, Jim LaForce (Fernando Lamas) turns to tragedy when the latter is accused of murder, but a suspense-filled climax brings the exciting narrative to a joyful conclusion to the haunting, mountain-echoing strains of "Indian Love Call."

The cast of "Rose Marie" presents such a wealth of dramatic, musical and comedy talent that it is impossible to single out any one laudatory performance. Ann Blyth is completely endearing as the singing heroine, Howard Keel gives color and virility to the role of Sgt. Malone, Fernando Lamas is persuasively romantic as the trapper, the teaming of Lahr and Miss Main is a gem of comedy casting, and Joan Taylor is exactly right as the exotic Indian girl, Wanda.

"Rose Marie" was directed by Mervyn LeRoy. In this first musical and first outdoor picture to be made in the breathtaking panorama and sweep of CinemaScope M-G-M has added another milestone to the annals of film-making It is a superb success.

'99 River St.' Is Fast-Moving Motion Picture

"99 River Street," fast-moving suspense thriller of a taxi driver, an actress and a murder frame, opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre, with John Payne and Evelyn Keyes marking a new twosome in Hollywood romantic castings.

For Payne, it's a departure in characterization yet in the swing of robust, rough and ready man-of-action tales for which his name is identified. He portrays a pugilist who is beaten on a T.K.O. knockout in a heavyweight champion bout and barred from further ring scrimmages. But he never ceases being a fighter in his heart. And comes the day when he has to fight for his life, with fists and brain and cunning.

Miss Keyes plays Payne's partner in trapping a murderer alive. It's a role displaying the actress at her sartorial and lively best.

"99 River Street," directed by Phil Karlson, who directed Payne in "Kansas City Confidential," was produced by Edward Small for United Artists release. Robert Smith wrote the story, which is adventure at its most rapid-fire.

Brad Dexter, remembered as the villain of "The Asphalt Jungle," "The Las Vagas Story" and "Macao," handles the role of the evil-doer, aided by Jay Adler and Jack Lambert. Adler, incidentally, hails from the famous acting Adler family and is the brother of the distinguished Luther and Stella Adler of the New York stage and Hollywood.

Frank Faylen, Peggie Castle and Eddy Waller are other principals in the story which has a modern New York background.

There are fights a-plenty in "99 River Street," with the windup in the eerie darkness of the waterfront.

STARTING WEDNESDAY "99 RIVER STREET"

Episcopalian Group Formed In South Side

The preliminary organization of a new Episcopal Church in Monroe was completed on Tuesday night at a meeting in Grace Episcopal Church, at North Fourth and Glenmar Streets. Twenty - eight adult communicants of the Episcopal Church signed the petition requesting the Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Louisiana to accept them as a new congregation to be known as "Saint Alban's Episcopal Church." This church will be located somewhere on the southside of Monroe. The bishop of Louisiana, the Rt. Rev. Girault M. Jones, D. D., had earlier assigned the Very Rev. Robert E. Ratelle, dean of the northern convocation of the diocese of Louisiana and rector of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer in Ruston to be priest - in - charge of the new congregation.

The movement to create another Episcopal Church in Monroe was officially started last January at the annual meeting of the congregation of Grace Chuhch Parish by the rector of Grace Episcopal Church, the Rev. John M. Allin. At that time the rector of Grace Church requested the congregation and especially those members on the southside of DeSiard Street to sponsor the creation of a new church. Three initial planning sessions were held by Father Allin and members of Grace Church to study this situation. A plan was presented to the bishop and the dean of the northern convocation of the diocese of Louisiana was assigned to provide direction to this new movement. This new movement is of historic significance in that Grace Episcopal Church was originally established in Monroe at the corner of St. John and Oak Street on the present site of the Wright-Bendel Clinic. The church was moved in 1925 to the northside after the original structure was destroyed by fire.

"It is our hope and plan," Father Allin stated, "to go ahead immediately with the long delayed plans to expand our church in this community. These plans also include organization of congregations in West Monroe and in east Monroe."

Farmerville Wipes Out Baptist Debt

Last Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock service hour, the new building of the First Baptist Church of Farmerville was formally dedicated, debt free, in impressive ceremonies.

Mrs. Irene Covington, oldest in years of membership having been a member of the church for sixty years, held the mortgage notes for the burning ceremony, while Ronnie Nolan, aged seven years, the youngest member, applied the match.

Following the program of dedication, Rev. Luther B. Hall, the pastor, delivered the dedication sermon to a vast throng which packed the spacious auditorium and the balcony.

Central Baptist Church Ending Its Revival Series

Revival services at the Central Baptist Church will enter the second week and close out on Easter Sunday, April 18. Large crowds are in attendance in these services conducted by Evangelist Carl Bassett. These services are unique and are attracting much attention. He uses beautiful colored slides of masterpiece paintings and draws a beautiful colored chalk picture each evening.

On Sunday morning, Evangelist Bassett will speak on the subject, "The Broken Circle" and on Sunday night "The Old Rugged Cross."

No hymn books are used dnring these services. Words of hyms and choruses are flashed on the screen and he leads the congregational singing with his trombone accompanied with the organ and the piano.

Evangelist Carl Bassett "pulls no punches." He calls sin "sin" and emphasizes the need of church members living for the Lord. One pungent sentence that characterizes his messages is "Profanity is prayer with the devil's trade-mark on it. Whenever you swear, you are Satan's mouthpiece." Don't miss the closing week of this revival.

Fine steel wool will remove dried paint from linoleum. But be careful not to scratch the linoleum, and wax and polish when the task is completed.

Important for MOTHERS-TO-BE

Millions of expectant mothers consider time-tested Mother's Friend an important aid to comfort and ease during pregnancy. Simply rub or gently massage Mother's Friend onto the abdomen—helps relieve the pain and discomfort of tight, dry, stretched skin. Mother's Friend can also aid in keeping skin smooth and supple after baby comes. Relieves aching back and leg muscles, too.

SCENE: A LONELY VALLEY HIDE-AWAY IN THE NEARBY MOUNTAINS.
GIVE ME THAT OTHER CAN OF KEROSENE.
THAT OUGHT TO DO IT.
LET'S GO, STICKS.
WHAT'S LEFT WILL BE UNIDENTIFIABLE AND THE DRUM CAN'T BE TRACED. IT'S OVER 30 YEARS OLD.
YOU SURE?
DEWDROP, OUR TROUBLES ARE OVER. WE'RE RID OF MRS. GREEN—AND THE BABY IS OURS!
—AND THE TEN MILLION.
BUT, SOMEHOW, THE CONTENTS OF THAT BURNING DRUM DON'T LOOK LIKE A CORPSE! ARE THOSE BED COVERS? AND ISN'T THAT A BOOK OR BOOKS?
DEWDROP AND STICKS HAD BETTER TAKE ANOTHER LOOK—THOSE ARE BOOKS!
MEANWHILE, AT HEADQUARTERS.
—AND THEY TRIED TO KILL ME!
I'VE BEEN INVOLVED IN A HORRIBLE CONSPIRACY, BUT I'VE GOT TO TELL YOU THE WHOLE STORY NOW AND THROW MYSELF ON YOUR MERCY.
THEY THOUGHT THEY'D KILLED ME! THEY PUT ME IN A DRUM—THEN THEY WENT OUT TO RENT A STATION WAGON BECAUSE THE DRUM WAS TOO BIG FOR A CAR.
"I CAME TO—I SUBSTITUTED BED COVERS AND BOOKS FOR MY OWN BODY—THEN I SEIZED MY CHILD AND CAME HERE," SAYS MRS. GREEN.
NOW, LET US RETURN AGAIN TO THE MANSION.
HELP! HELP!
THE PLACE IS FORSAKEN! NOBODY HERE—EVEN THE BABY'S GONE!

Tales from the Great Book

THE SAGA OF SAMSON

by John Lehti

SAMSON, HAVING MARRIED THE BEAUTIFUL PHILISTINE MAID, CELEBRATES HIS WEDDING FEAST WITH THE ENEMY PHILISTINES AS "GUESTS"...THESE YOUNG MEN HAVE ONLY HATRED FOR THE MIGHTY ISRAELITE AND HOPE TO CONTRIBUTE TO HIS DISCOMFORT IN SOME FORM OR OTHER....

IN THE MIDST OF THEIR PAGAN ACTIVITIES, THEY SEEK TO RIDICULE THE BRIDEGROOM. "SURELY," SAYS ONE, "HIS STRENGTH IS ALL IN THE ARM, LEAVING NOTHING IN THE HEAD!"

"THIS BEING SO," ANSWERS SAMSON, "YOU WILL HAVE NO TROUBLE SOLVING MY RIDDLE...AND FOR A WAGER!"

AND NOW THE YOUNG MEN ARE HARD PUT TO IT! THE RIDDLE: "OUT OF THE EATER CAME FORTH MEAT, AND OUT OF THE STRONG CAME FORTH SWEETNESS." THE WAGER: EACH MAN TO WIN OR LOSE A NEW GARMENT! THE TIME LIMIT: SEVEN DAYS!

"THIS RIDDLE IS IMPOSSIBLE," GRUMBLES A WORRIED PHILISTINE, "WE SHALL SURELY LOSE THE WAGER! AND SAMSON WILL HAVE MADE FOOLS OF US ALL...AND POOR ONES BESIDES!"

AND SO, THE YOUNG BRIDE IS CORNERED. THEY THREATEN HER, "GET US THE ANSWER, OR WE SHALL SURELY DESTROY YOU, YOUR FATHER AND YOUR HOUSE!"

NEVER HAS THERE BEEN SUCH WAILING AND CRYING IN A BRIDAL BOUDOIR...IT IS OBVIOUS SAMSON DOES NOT LOVE HER, ELSE HE'D NOT HIDE THE ANSWER FROM HER..."BUT EVEN MY PARENTS HAVE I NOT TOLD," SAYS HE, IN DEFENSE....

...BUT HOW LONG CAN ANY DEFENSE STAND BEFORE A YOUNG AND LOVELY BRIDE?.. SAMSON TELLS HER OF THE LION AND THE HONEY...

...ONLY TO HAVE IT RETURN TO HIM VIA THE LIPS OF THE YOUNG MEN...HE HAS LOST A WAGER!

DEPARTING IN FURY TO GET THE GARMENTS FOR HIS "GUESTS" (ALL THIRTY OF THEM), SAMSON KNOWS THAT HIS WIFE BETRAYED THE SECRET AND HE PLANS A SPECIAL REVENGE FOR THE PHILISTINES!
